Cigarette Tax Leaks Studied

Lansing Solon Calls For Stiffer Penalty

LANSING—(AP)—A House member today aimed a plug at a hole through which he said $500,000 a year in cigarette taxes was leaking.

Rep. Louis A. Anderson (R-Northport), chairman of the House taxation committee, prepared to file a bill to make it a felony, instead of a misdemeanor, to transport untaxed cigarettes.

Anderson would make it a felony to carry more than three cartons of untaxed cigarettes in a private car without a $1 permit.

The state revenue department reported it had trouble controlling cigarette bootleggers because of the smallness of the penalties and the misdemeanor limitations on police search and seizure powers.

Rep. Howard R. Carroll (R-Mt. Clemens) proposed to create a 10-man House and Senate committee to study reapportionment of Michigan's congressional seats on the basis of the 1950 census. Presumably Michigan will be entitled to one additional congressman.

Four-year terms for all state and county officials and legislative amendments submitted to the House and Senate.

Senator William A. Ellsworth (R-St. Ignace) and Rep. Adrian De Boom (R-Owosso) were the sponsors.

Retired General New Cook County Warden

CHICAGO—(AP)—A retired army brigadier general is to replace a retired marine corps colonel as warden of the Cook county jail.

The new warden is William Hale Wilbur, 62, who won the medal of honor for participation in the American landings in North Africa in World War II. Wilbur, former chief of staff of the Army's Sixth Corps with headquarters in Chicago, was named warden by John E. Babb, newly elected sheriff.

Wilbur succeeds Chester L. Fordney, who resigned last week.

Holdup Man Nabbed

FLINT—(AP)—Burl Smith, 21, attendant at a service station, lost no time in reporting to police after the station was robbed of $42 yesterday. He supplied the license number of the holdup man. Twenty-seven minutes later, Gilbert Bantrease, 34, was arrested as he drove up to his home where police were waiting for him. Police said he admitted the holdup, surrendered a gun and the money.

Price-Wage Control Program Set Aside

By MAX HALL

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Plans for nationwide price and wage controls have been set aside at least for the present.

Alan Valentine, head of the Economic Stabilization Agency (ESA), has accepted the judgment of those advisers who believe general price controls would be unwise until there is a bigger staff to administer them.

Quick Freeze Favored

Sitting beside his price director, Michael V. Disalle, Valentine told reporters last night: "We have come to the decision that we do not plan any present across-the-board general freeze, ceiling, or stabilization of prices."

Disalle, who wants quick action, had prepared a tentative order freezing the prices for at least 30 days. But he publicly accepted the decision to delay. It was possibly sound judgment, he said, and he was "willing to go along with that was a matter of agency policy."

There were a number of other developments, meanwhile, in the expanding government effort to gear the nation to the vast defense program.

The administration asked Congress to permit the drafting of youths 18 years old and let it be known that a big tax increase—perhaps as much as 30 per cent—will be sought to help meet mounting costs of rearmament.

Tax Boost Coming

President Truman will lay down a "pay-as-you-go" tax policy in messages to Congress within the next few days, Secretary of the Treasury Snyder told newsmen yesterday. Word in Congress was that a new tax boost of about $15,000,000,000 a year would be sought.

Price and wage ceilings have been imposed in only one industry so far—automobiles. And a re-examination of those ceilings now is in progress. John M. Hancock, New York investment banker, was scheduled to hear arguments today from the auto companies, which want the ceilings removed. As a special consultant to Disalle, Hancock will make recommendations on possible changes.

British Propose Truce Dickers

U. S. Urged To Meet With Red China

LONDON—(AP)—Informal sources reported today the British Commonwealth nations have proposed a high level meeting between the United States and Red China to discuss a Korean settlement.

The proposed get-together would be under United Nations auspices, the informants said.

Neither the United States nor Red China has so far reacted to the suggestion.

The new move apparently has the support of the leaders of all nine British Commonwealth nations who have been discussing the tense world situation in a conference which began here last Thursday.

The proposal would seek to avoid formulation in the United Nations of a new cease-fire resolution which might prove unacceptable to either the U. S. or Red China. It also would try to defer offering of a projected U. S. resolution to have the U. N. brand Communist China an aggressor.

Britain, the Commonwealth and many western nations would find it difficult to support such a resolution. Some have recognized the Peiping government. They fear labeling Communist China an aggressor eventually would lead to imposition of economic sanctions against China, which could be a step to war.

Government Rests Case Against Pink Economist Remington

NEW YORK—(AP)—The final government witness in the perjury trial of William W. Remington testified yesterday that the defendant had told him he turned Communist because his father was a stooge for capitalists.

Then the government rested its case against the 33-year-old Remington, former U. S. Commerce department economist accused of falsely swearing before a federal grand jury that he never was a member of the Communist party.

Federal Judge George F. Noonan excused the jury until tomorrow, and designated today for hearing defense motions.

Plane Plants Short Of Skilled Help For Fast War Expansion

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—It will take the aircraft industry at least a year to begin producing half as many planes as it did in the other war, a survey of main plants in southern California indicated today.

President Truman has called for a production capacity of 50,000 planes annually in the present emergency.

Planimakers here claim they can expand to any capacity required if they get the necessary materials, tools, and manpower.

Costs Skyrocket

A spokesman for Douglas Aircraft Corp. said the industry turned out military planes at the rate of nearly 100,000 a year during the peak period of World War II. Douglas is producing at one fourth of its wartime maximum and would have to double its production to reach the president's capacity goal.

California manufacturers were agreed on three principal points:

1. The factories can't retool and hire additional help until the orders come in and until they know what is expected of them.

2. There is an acute shortage of skilled technicians.

3. The whole program is going to cost the taxpayer considerably more than last time.

At present, about 96,000 persons are employed directly in aircraft work in the Los Angeles area. Douglas alone had 160,000 in 1943. Lockheed had another 94,000. More help must come from somewhere.

No Voluntary Withdrawal In Korea For US

Americans To Fight Long As Possible

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The official U. S. attitude toward the military action in Korea remains unchanged: "There will be no voluntary withdrawal," and American forces will fight on as long as possible.

Informed officials reiterated this basic policy yesterday after the defense department denied a Chicago Daily News report from Tokyo that Gen. Douglas MacArthur was understood to have recommended to Washington a prompt withdrawal.

Will Hold Pusan

Keyes Beech, veteran correspondent for the Chicago paper, said today he would "stand on the story" despite denials. His statement followed a declaration in Tokyo by Col. M. P. Echols, MacArthur's public information officer, that Beech's story was "a figment of the writer's imagination." Beech said he had it from "authoritative sources."

The restatement of the policy laid down by President Truman early last month apparently means that the military is planning to hold on to a beachhead around the southern port city of Pusan as long as possible.

It is understood that some military men have argued in policy councils that a voluntary withdrawal might minimize losses to U. S. and United Nations forces and permit concentration of forces elsewhere in the Communist-plagued far east.

On the other hand, although the U. N. troops are falling back, before vastly greater numbers of Chinese and Korean Reds, it is believed here they have a lot of fighting power left.

And as yet there has been no decisive battle.

Robbery Stab Fatal

Peiping Believed Preparing To Invade French Indochina

By DEWITT MacKENZIE

Chinese Nationalist headquarters on Formosa reports that the Peiping Communist regime shows strong signs of preparing to invade French Indochina.

Such a military move would represent a highly significant development in the Bolshevik upheaval which is shaking the whole vast Asiatic theater. One of its most important aspects is that it indicates the Bolshevik determination to seize and maintain the initiative in the Far Eastern conflict.

Philippines On List

The immediate objective of such an invasion of Indochina would be to evict the French, who have controlled that rich area for the greater part of half a century, and establish the Communist insurgents with whom the French now are fighting. This would be a considerable step in the Red program of driving all "capitalist" nations from Asia—France, Britain, Holland and America.

As the signs read, other countries have been slated for similar "liberation." Among those potentialities are Burma, Siam, Malaya, and even the Philippines. All this represents a part of the general expansion projected by the Moscow-Peiping partnership.

Reaching For Leadership

General Mao Tse-Tung, the Chinese Communist leader, presumably is thinking partly in terms of establishing a protective cordon of satellite nations about Red China. And there are many observers who also believe he may quietly be reaching for the leadership of all Asia.

One of the material advantages which Communism would gain by evicting the French from Indochina would be the acquirement of one of the world's "rice bowls." And this would come at a time when there is a great scarcity of rice, which is the staple food of many Asiatic countries.

However, important as is this food aspect, it undoubtedly is secondary to the general program of expanding the Red empire. Such a move is calculated, for one thing, to keep the non-Communist nations off balance.

Would Create Confusion

A Communist invasion of Indochina, whether successful or not, would create confusion, when coupled with the Korean upheaval and other potential danger spots. Hard-pressed France would be compelled to reinforce her troops in Indochina. This would weaken France in Europe and consequently would affect the entire allied defense program in Western Europe.

The French long have been battling the Communist led nations over the inhospitable mountain terrain of Indochina. More than half the country is mountainous and is filled with hiding places which are made to order for guerrilla troops. As a result the French have encountered many setbacks and the war continues apace. Obviously the intervention of Chinese "volunteers"

Baby Girl Won't Lose Her Eyes

Mayo Clinic Doctors Find No Cancer

ROCHESTER, Minn.—(AP)—Four-year-old Carolyn Purcell isn't going to lose her eyes, and cancer, believed threatening her life, doesn't even exist in her case.

That was the joyful report given by Mayo Clinic specialists yesterday to Carolyn's mother, Mrs. Frank Purcell of Alpharetta, Ga., after eight hours of examination at the medical center.

The happy mother and daughter were to leave Rochester by airliner today for Chicago, where they will board another plane for Atlanta, arriving there tonight.

Mrs. Purcell brought Carolyn here by plane late Tuesday with a grim choice tormenting her mind. She had been told by doctors in Atlanta that Carolyn must either undergo surgery to have her eyes removed or die of cancer.

The 33-year-old mother and her husband, an unemployed stone-mason, refused to consent to the operation. Days of anguish followed. Examination at the Mayo Clinic was suggested, but the Purcells had little money.

The Shriners in Atlanta stepped in and supplied money for a plane trip.

Early Wednesday morning Carolyn and her mother reported at the clinic. Mrs. Purcell followed the little girl step by step through eight hours of examination. When it was all over, clinic doctors said there was no evidence of cancer.

They said there was an inflammatory reaction within the child's eyes which has impaired Carolyn's sight. They indicated it can be corrected by treatment.

Three Burglars Get Jewels, Kiss Victim

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Three men kissed Mrs. Mildred Young yesterday, all without her consent.

She told police they came to her door, asked for a "Mr. Johnson," ordered her at gunpoint back into the house, trussed her to a bedstead, ransacked the house of $20,000 worth of jewelry, silverware and clothing, took it to their auto, and then returned, each to take a goodbye kiss.

Mrs. Young told police she wants the jewelry back. The kisses? Foey!

American Casualties In Korea Now 42,713

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Announced American casualties in Korea now total 42,713, an increase of 2,537 over a week ago.

The new total, announced yesterday by the defense department, includes 6,247 killed in action, 29,306 wounded and 7,160 missing.

It represents casualties whose next of kin received notification through midnight of last Friday.

New Delay Faced By UN In Quest For Korea Peace

By MAX HARRELSON

LAKE SUCCESS—(AP)—The U. N. today faced a new delay in its quest for a Korean peace settlement.

The general assembly's 60-nation political committee was scheduled to meet at 3 p. m. (EST), but informed quarters said it probably would adjourn until next week because no one had any formal proposals ready yet.

Truce Plan Drafted

The situation was this: The assembly's three-member cease-fire committee had a 6-point truce plan, but wasn't ready to submit it because India's Sir Benergh N. Rau wanted to get an okay first from his chief, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

Israel had a similar 7-point plan, but did not want to formalize it in a resolution unless it received substantial support.

The United States had a plan, calling for condemnation of Communist China as an aggressor, but wanted to give the U. N. another chance to seek a cease-fire.

The picture was complicated further by the fact that the whole far eastern problem was under consideration by the conference of British Commonwealth premiers in London. Many delegates felt they should at least wait until the Commonwealth diplomats had received word of any decisions which might affect their attitude.

Members Impatient

Diplomatic sources reported, meanwhile, that the other two members of the cease-fire committee were getting impatient over the slowness of the Indian government in approving the proposed truce formula which was sent to Nehru in London almost a week ago.

These two are assembly President Nasrallah Entezam of Iran and Canada's minister of external affairs, Lester B. Pearson. One informed source said they might come forward with the cease-fire appeal, without Rau, unless he received a go-ahead soon.

Although there was little hope here that the Peiping government would accept the new truce bid, there was general agreement that another clear-cut rejection by the Chinese Reds would clear away some of the objections to U. S. demands that they be labelled as aggressors.

Congress Grapples With Proposal To Draft 18-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The new Congress grapples today with two big problems—should lads as young as 18 be drafted into the armed forces, and how many men should the United States commit to the defense of Europe?

In addition, Senate Republicans were scheduled to vote on a plan backed by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) to give junior Republican senators weightier committee assignments.

Defense Chiefs Heard

The Senate subcommittee on preparedness called for Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant Secretary of Defense, to say it a second visit today to enlarge on the administration's request that 18-year-olds be drafted under a universal military training program.

Secretary of Defense Marshall and Mrs. Rosenberg told the committee yesterday the armed forces would need youths of 18 to keep pace with expanded defense goals, both short and long term.

And, they said, draftees should be held for 27 months instead of the present 21.

Lawmakers Balk

Immediate senatorial reaction was balky. The senators appeared to boggle not so much at the idea of universal training as at a minimum draft age of 18 and minimum service of 27 months. Senator Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate armed services committee, declared that short of all-out war, 21 months was

Reds Massing For Big Blow In West Korea

Enemy Loses 2,100 In 7-Hour Fight

TOKYO—(AP)—American, French and Dutch troops clung stubbornly tonight to a salient on the critical central Korean front in the face of 100,000 Reds massing in the Wonju area.

United Nations positions were stabilized amid a crackling of smallarms fire two miles south of the wrecked and empty town of Wonju, which is 55 miles southeast of Seoul.

Except for the sporadic fire the front was quiet after a 7-hour battle in which 2,100 Korean Reds were estimated killed or wounded.

Charge With Bayonets

The allies abandoned Wonju Monday. On Wednesday, a tank-led patrol of the U. S. Second Division pushed back into the town from the southeast.

Finding no Reds there, the patrol looked around for a while, then voluntarily withdrew toward the overlooking hills in the south.

South, on the road toward Chongju, the company-sized patrol was jumped by more than 7,000 North Koreans. At one stage the Americans fixed bayonets and charged.

After other allied forces reinforced the patrol, the Reds broke off the battle Wednesday night.

Menace Shapes Up

But the greatest menace to allied arms was shaping up in a 50-mile stretch between Chongju and Red-held Osan in western Korea.

Chinese and Korean Red forces estimated at 285,000 were in the area or moving toward it in an

Negro Senator Will Lose Seat

Ouster Vote Set For Today In Lansing

LANSING—(AP)—"Unseated Senator-elect Charles C. Diggs and do what you want about unseating Senator-elect Anthony J. Wilkowski."

That's the recommendation which faced the Senate today from the Senate business committee as it prepared to vote on demands by two Republican Senators that the two Detroit Democrats be declared unfit for the Senate and their seats vacated.

A vote is expected this afternoon (2 p. m.) and the odds seemed to be that Diggs would lose his seat, while Wilkowski might be allowed to take his oath of office.

The fitness of both men has been challenged because they have served prison terms. Diggs, a Negro, still is on parole from a three-to-five year sentence for bribery conspiracy, while Wilkowski completed his sentence in 1940 on a charge of altering ballots in a legislative recount in 1934. Wilkowski has been elected to two Senate seats since and been seated each time.

The state parole board, called before the committee, said that Diggs was paroled last March ahead of his minimum sentence date in order to treat him equally with five other convicted ex-legislators who had to be released because of serious illness or impending death.

Delta History Group To Hear Frank B. Woodford

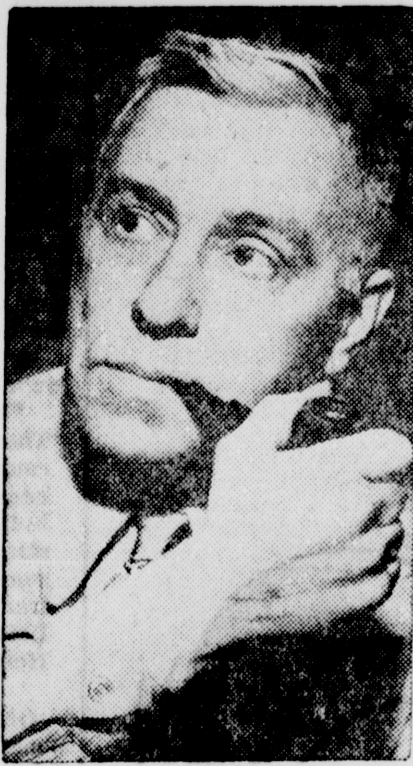

The Delta County Historical Society will hold its annual dinner meeting Friday evening at 6:30 o'clock in the Delta hotel, with Frank B. Woodford, Detroit journalist and author, as the principal speaker.

Woodford, Detroit Free Press editorial writer and columnist, and author of "Lewis Cass—the Last Jeffersonian," will address the group on the travels and adventures of Cass, early governor of the Michigan territory, in the Upper Peninsula. The title of his talk is "A Yankee in Hiawaland."

Authority On Government. Recognized as an authoritative reporter and commentator on municipal government, Woodford has been in newspaper work for nearly 30 years and for the past 20 years has been a writer for the Detroit Free Press. He is a member of a family that has resided in Michigan for 130 years.

Because of his interest in Michigan history, Woodford has authored many articles and papers on Michigan and local history, and has been occasional lecturer on historical subjects at the University of Michigan. He is a member of several historical organizations, including the Algonquin Club, Michigan Historical Society and Detroit Historical Society.

Bender Will Preside. His book on the life of Lewis Cass, published last fall by Rutgers University Press, is a study of Michigan's foremost statesman.

and practical founder of this state as an American commonwealth. The book has been described by reviewers as a major contribution to the history of the United States.

Frank Bender jr., Soo Hill, president of the Delta County Historical Society, will preside at the annual meeting. Election of officers and the presentation of annual reports are a part of the scheduled business meeting.

Railroads Buy Much Equipment

1950 Orders Reach High Dollar Volume

In 1950 the dollar value of railroad orders for locomotives and freight cars reached an all-time high, according to the January 15 issue of Railway Age.

While rising prices and an increased use of specialized gadgets on and in the equipment played a part in making this figure so high, the physical volume of orders was also one of the largest in history. Last year 156,481 freight cars and 4,435 locomotive units were ordered, in numbers the 1950 freight car orders were among the highest on record, exceeded only by those for 1912, 1916 and 1922. In 1912, the peak year for ordering freight cars, 194,353 cars were contracted for by the railroads, while the 1916 figure was 159,376 and the 1922 car orders were 718,210. The average capacity of cars ordered in 1950 was, however, considerably greater than in the earlier years.

Most of the 4,436 locomotive units ordered were diesel-electric, and the estimated expenditure that the railroads will make to procure this equipment is the greatest in their history. As they go in service, replacing older steam power, the proportion of railroad freight and passenger service handled by diesel locomotives will continue to increase.

Other 1950 purchases by the railroads climbed only slightly from 1949, according to preliminary estimates by Railway Age. Purchases of materials, supplies and fuel in 1950 totaled $1,736,833,000, while expenditures for the same classes of material in 1949 were $1,641,406,000. A discouraging first half year traffic-wise, plus an inability to procure some kinds of material and supplies, played an important part in keeping the 1950 figure relatively low.

December Snowy And Cold, As If You Didn't Know

More snowfall and colder than average summarizes the December weather picture as reported by the U. S. Weather Bureau office in Escanaba.

The total snowfall for the month was 15.7 inches, which was 5.4 inches more than average for the month. It did not snow every day, of course, and there was some melting weather—but the month began with four inches of snow on the ground and ended with eight inches of snowy covering.

December, 1950, was not unusual in the amount of snowfall, compared to the abundant snowfall in December, 1927—a total of 27.4 inches. The record snowfall in Escanaba for any month occurred in January, 1866, a hip-deep 40.4 inches.

Lower than average temperatures in December were revealed by the weather bureau figures and

At some time during the 24 hours of every 31 days in December the temperature dipped below freezing, to establish an average of 19.2 degrees or 3.2 degrees below normal for the month. Albion Students Approve Comics

82 Per Cent Read Them In Newspapers

ALBION—Parents should permit their children to read comics if their children wish to—so declared 87 per cent of the 1237 students attending Albion college in a public opinion poll just conducted there under the auspices of the college speech department.

The poll also revealed that 82 per cent of the Albion students read comics in the daily papers regularly, and that of the 81 per cent who read comic books when they were younger, 31 per cent still do. At least 15 per cent read as many as five comic books a month.

Seventy-four per cent would welcome Shakespeare, Dickens and other classics in comic book form.

As to the comic books' relation to juvenile delinquency, 41 per cent felt they contributed to it, 6 per cent thought they served to prevent it, and 53 per cent voted that they had no effect on the problem.

Lil Abner, Dick Tracy and Brenda Starr took top honors for popularity in the order given.

When asked to categorize comic books as contributing factors to American culture, 9 per cent thought them objectionable; 30 per cent, poor; 45 per cent, fairly good; 5 per cent, good; and 2 per cent, excellent.

Comic books were thought to be valuable because they were humorous, entertaining, pleasant time fillers and escape media. They were thought objectionable because they featured crime and horror, lacked realism and mature interest, and were too stereotyped and over-stimulating.

Favorite retreats for comic book reading were indicated as the home, the barber shop, the college room and the fraternity.

Pontiac Quadruplets Thriving, Going Home Within Week's Time

PONTIAC, Mich.—(AP)—Michigan's currently most prominent citizens—the day-old Rosebush quadruplets—were "doing very well" today.

To all appearances the two boys and two girl babies—Kenneth, Jr., Keith, Krystal and Kristene—were thriving.

The infants, born yesterday to Mrs. Ann Rosebush, 34, mother of four other children, remained in incubators at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital.

The hospital reported that Mrs. Rosebush also was doing "fine." Likewise, the father, Kenneth, 36, after a sound night's rest which followed his earlier night-long floor-pacing.

Rosebush, a stone mason, said he was happy over his big family although he "really wanted four boys" to go with his four other daughters. Before the new births the parents had been advised to expect four babies.

It was indicated that Mrs. Rosebush and the babies might be able to go home within a week's time.

Pine Ridge

PINE RIDGE—The Pine Ridge 4-H club met at the Charles Sedquist home Tuesday evening. After the business meeting the girls worked on their projects and lunch was served by Mrs. Sedquist. The next meeting will be held at the home of Doris Borman, Jan. 23.

Mrs. Ella B. Christiansen returned Tuesday evening from Adair, Iowa after spending the holiday season visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Daniels and family.

Upper Peninsula Elks To Meet At Ishpeming

Officers of fourteen Elk lodges in the Upper Peninsula will hold a community service planning clinic in Ishpeming on Jan. 20 and 21, Robert A. Burns of Wakefield, district deputy grand exalted ruler, Michigan, northwest, of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, announced today.

Arrangements for this clinic are being made by Willard J. Robertson, district deputy grand exalted ruler, Michigan, northeast. The Upper Peninsula is divided into two districts, namely: Michigan northeast and Michigan northwest. Michigan northeast is made up of the lodges of Ishpeming, Negaunee, Marquette, Menominee, Manistique, Newberry and Sault Ste. Marie. The lodges in Michigan northwest district are Ironwood, Bessemer, Iron River, Iron Mountain, Escanaba, Calumet and Hancock. Attending will be the exalted rulers, secretaries and officers of these lodges; also invited to attend are Frank J. Duda of Bessemer, immediate past president of the Michigan Elks association; Hugh L. Hartley of Owosso, president of the Michigan Elks association; John Kelly of Manistique, president, Fred Foley of Iron Mountain, vice-president and Fred Hahn of Manistique, secretary-treasurer of the Upper Peninsula Michigan Elks association.

It is one of 152 clinics to be held in a campaign by the order to strengthen the foundations of the American way of life through an expanded program of community services by the nation's 1,578 Elk lodges, according to Robert A. Burns. The campaign was launched by Joseph B. Kyle of Gary, Ind., grand exalted ruler of the Elks.

The campaign calls for every lodge to study its community's needs in such fields as health, recreation and welfare facilities, with special emphasis upon youth development, and then adopt specific projects to meet those needs.

Spirited Bidding on Water Plant Project May Keep Costs Down

NEARLY three dozen contractors from the Middle West have secured plans and specifications for the Escanaba water filtration plant project, indicating that they are interested in presenting bids on either portions or all of the project. The response has been very gratifying to city officials because it indicates that bidding competition will be keen, a condition that should help to keep construction costs down.

Local officials have been fearful that rising costs and the price acceleration on materials and labor might result in con-

Police Department Has Few Takers

LOOKING for a job, buddy?

The Escanaba police department has been advertising for applicants for vacancies in the patrolman ranks and thus far only one person has indicated a desire to take the civil service examination. Because of the difficulty in securing applicants for the police positions, the civil service officers have decided to waive the residence requirement. Now anyone can apply for the police jobs, even though he is not a resident of Escanaba.

The job requirements are not unduly exacting and the work is not unpleasant. The pay is $220.40 a month.

Where are all those people who a few years ago as kids said that they wanted to be cops when they grew up?

We Have Advantage In Industrial Know-How

THE nation's leaders and most responsible observers have been worrying a great deal lately about where America would stand if all Europe fell into Russia's hands. Especial stress has been laid on the danger of letting the Communists grab the huge European industrial potential.

The worry is well grounded. Our peril would be multiplied many times should Europe come under Soviet control. But in our emphasis on the grave risk, we must not assume that in such an event our cause would be hopeless. There is no need to adopt a defeatist attitude.

Russia already has an overwhelming superiority in numbers of men. With Europe in tow, it would add greatly both to its material resources and its industrial capacity. Yet there's another side of the story.

The United States has the greatest rate of productivity—production per man-hour—of any nation in the world. During World War II, our man-hour output was three times that of either Germany and Japan combined, or Britain and Russia together.

Furthermore, and this fact has been carefully documented by economists who studied World War II, this country actually turned out more munitions of war in the peak year 1944 than Germany, Japan, Russia and Britain together. In other words, we out-produced both the enemy and our two principal allies.

And we did it while still allowing production for civilian purposes to rise above pre-war levels.

Today, of course, our position in this field is stronger than ever. Our productivity has risen considerably since the war. More than that, we have spent $3 billions on industrial expansion and are planning to spend another $2 billion in 1951. America's capacity to produce is thus far beyond 1944.

You might, therefore, fairly ask: If we out-produced all the chief warring powers in 1944 and are better off today, why worry about what happens to Europe?

Sticking strictly to economics and ignoring the several vital political and military reasons why Europe should be held, here's what we have to face:

In terms of natural resources, the raw stuff of industrial output, we are not the country we were in 1944, or 20 years ago. Now we import almost half our copper and rely heavily on foreign sources of aluminum. The prime source of our iron ore for decades has been the Mesabi Range in Minnesota; but a top steel official said while World War II still raged that "this is the last war which will be fought off the Mesabi." High-grade supplies have dwindled sharply.

A Russia in possession of Europe would outflank America and the Near East, with their vital copper, uranium (for the A-bomb), and oil. The Soviet leaders undoubtedly would seek to strangle us by cutting off as much outside trade as possible. If it came to war, Russian submarines would menace or slash our sea lanes to vital materials we now get from South America.

Youthful Hurry

It's a puzzling fact that children have but little time to waste, and the job of growing up is one they want to do with haste. From the day they learn to talk, they pray that time will quickly pass, and in school they cheer promotion to the next and older class. And they never know that parents hate to see them come of age, as they hurry through the book of youth and turn another page.

Now you take your youthful daughter, who is sprouting like a weed, and who thinks she isn't growing up at quite the proper speed—why, she's sure it's quite important she has reached the age of nine and are long its Birthday Number Ten for which she likes to pine. She's convinced that lowly eight-year-olds are merely in the way, and with them and other juveniles, she doesn't care to play.

And it makes her mad for you to say you wish she'd stay a pup, so you never, never have to think about her growing up. Though you try your best to tell her that she'll never have more fun, she impatiently declares that you are sure the goofy one. But you like to keep on hoping that she'll never come of age, as she hurries through the book of youth and turns another page.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The U. N. retreat in Korea has now gone through two distinct and separate stages.

Retreat No. 1—Which began when we were caught up near the Manchurian border was a genuine, almost headlong retreat—a distance of 120 miles back to around the 38th parallel. Another phase of this retreat was a valiant, mile-by-mile battle by the 10th corps to reach the sea at Hungnam.

Retreat No. 2—Which began at around the 38th parallel last week has been a carefully planned withdrawal, with supplies loaded up and ready to move back even before the enemy hit. It was hoped to give the impression that U. N. forces were retreating in the face of heavy odds, but this has not really been the case. Our withdrawal is following a calculated plan to evacuate most of Korea.

What the American public doesn't generally realize, however, is that both retreats have had an extremely bad reaction in other parts of the world. Furthermore, war stories published in this country—especially when it comes to the reasons for retreating and the size of the Chinese Communist army.

BRITISH PRESS DISPATCHES

British newsmen, for instance, at one time referred to "Mac's ghost army" and said that British forces had not seen the enemy for a week. This was during retreat No. 1 of the 8th army when U. N. forces raced 120 miles southward.

General MacArthur's own confidential dispatches to the Pentagon give credence to some of these British news accounts.

During one point in the retreat of the 8th army shortly before Christmas, MacArthur actually sent his field commander, the late Lieut. Gen. Walton Walker, a blistering cable ordering him to make contact with the enemy and be "aggressive" about it. MacArthur even used the command "I direct" in his message to Walker; also ordered him to "give high priority to bringing in prisoners."

It is most unusual for a headquarters commander to give such blunt orders as "I direct" to a field commander.

ATTACKS EXAGGERATED

Another significant point brought out in MacArthur's reports to Washington is that, during the evacuation of the Hungnam beachhead, never were the U. N. forces attacked by a Chinese force stronger than a company.

Press dispatches from Hungnam made it appear that the Chinese were throwing masses of troops at U. N. lines which fought desperately to hold the beachhead. However, MacArthur's own reports to Washington do not bear this out. He states that no more than one Chinese company attacked the beachhead, and that not a single American casualty was suffered during the evacuation.

Though the 10th corps fought one of the most valiant withdrawals in history to Hungnam, the real story of the 8th army's retreat is not so glorious. Its difficulties were due in part to poor liaison, poor command, and to the inevitable problems which arise when troops of different nationalities are fighting side by side.

Initial error was MacArthur's failure to provide for direct battle liaison between General Walker's 8th and Maj. Gen. Almond's 10th corps. Walker, though a lieutenant general outranking Almond, was not placed in command, but each had to communicate back to Tokyo.

And with the 8th army advancing west in fanned-out formation toward the Manchurian border, and the 10th corps advancing north toward the Siberian border, the Chinese cleverly hit in between.

FRICION WITH SOUTH KOREANS
If U. N. forces had been advancing in a compact front, instead of fanned out, the result might have been different. But on top of this the 2nd division of the 8th army panicked. It had been left behind as a rear guard for the 8th army with South Korean units on its flank. Friction developed between the South Koreans and the Americans, including fist fights, and the Americans were finally ordered to keep away from the South Koreans.

This led to loss of contact between the two, so that the 2nd division did not know the South Koreans had dropped back, leaving the Americans' flank exposed. This gave the Chinese a chance to infiltrate, and the 2nd division panicked and ran.

WORDS TO WATCH

Watch the word poignant. Do not say "POIG-nunt." The "g" is silent. Correct: POIN-unt; or: POIN-yunt. I prefer the latter.

The word piquant is sometimes heard as "PEE-kw'nt." I have even heard it given a "French" pronunciation "pi-KWAHNT." Neither has any sanction. Better say: PEE-k'nt.

The word pistachio is pronounced "pis-TAH-shi-oh" by practically all the dictionaries. But the "ah" sound in the second syllable is gradually disappearing in Standard American speech. The customary pronunciation nowadays is pis-TASH-yoh- or pis-TASH-ee-oh.

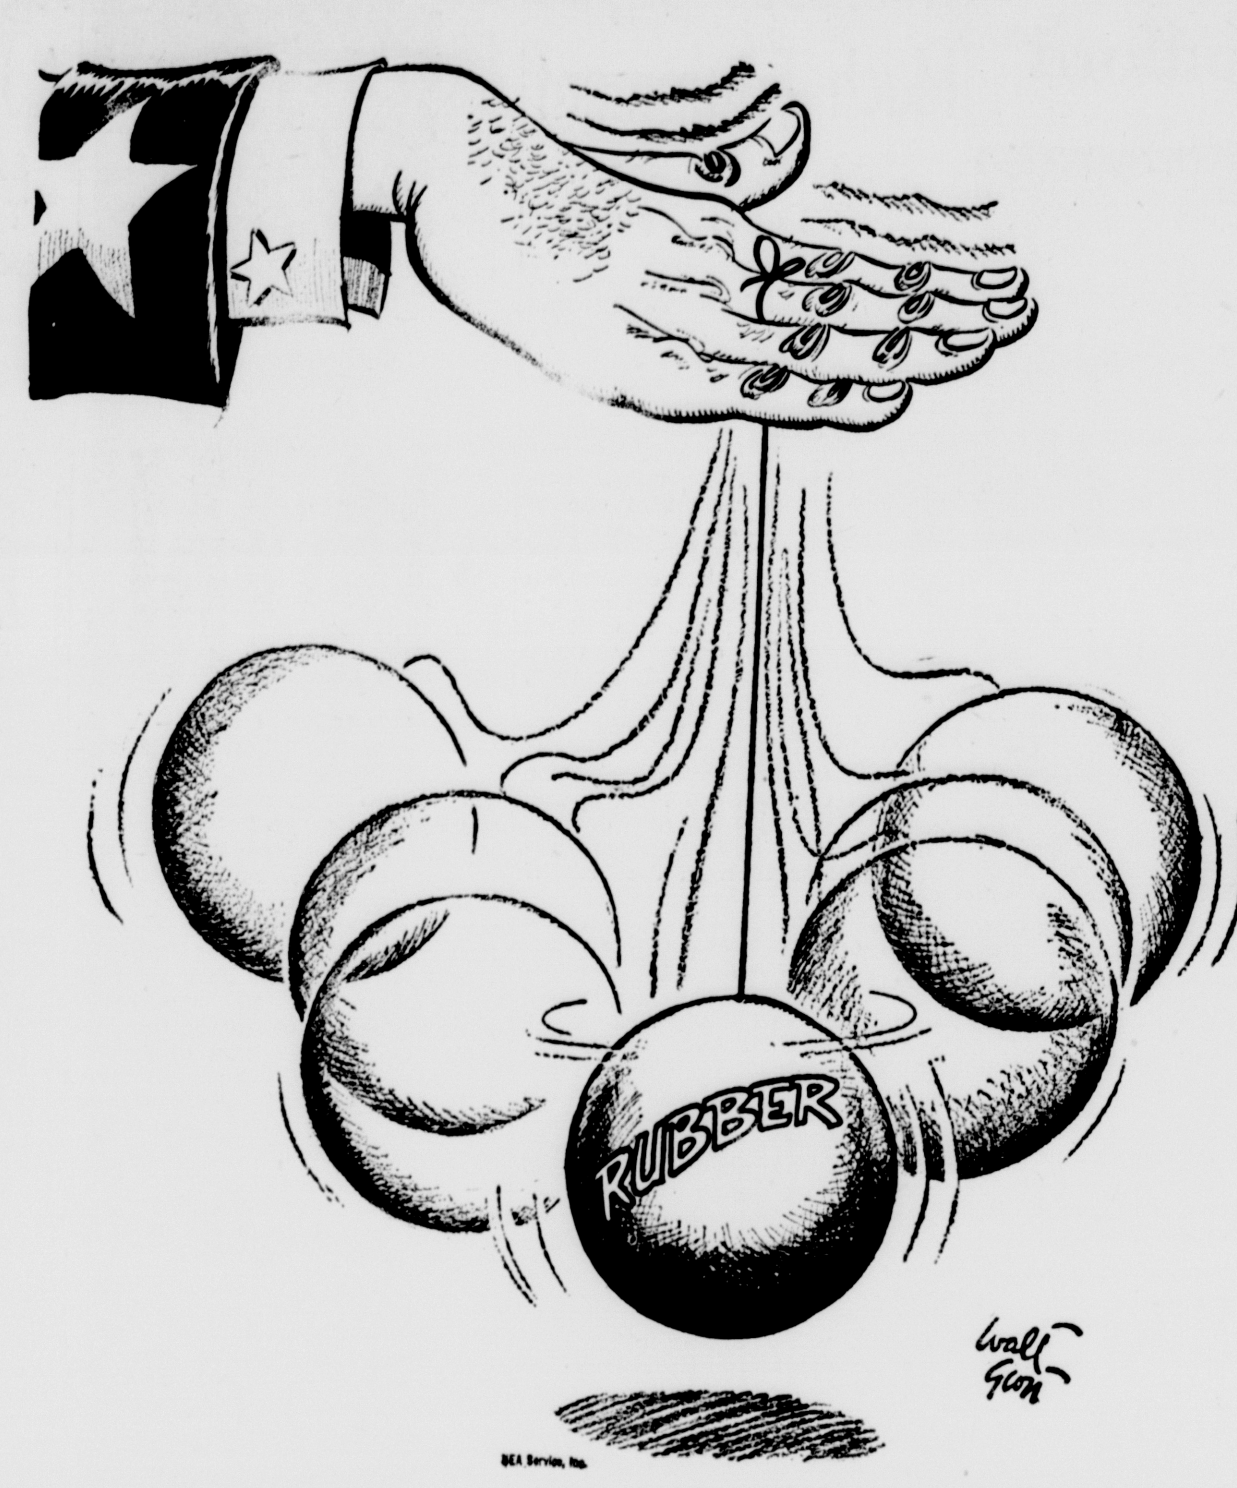

Q. Merriam-Webster's pronunciation of papaya is puh-PAH-yah. I don't hear it that way.—E. A. P.

A. Of course you don't. Webster's pronunciation is Spanish. The Standard American pronunciation is: puh-PY-uh; or: puh-PAH-yuh.

The dictionaries are very unrealistic about the pronunciation of the Spanish loan word patio. They give the American pronunciation as "PAH-tee-oh," and the Spanish as "PAHT-yoh." In the prevailing American pronunciation, however, the first-syllable "a" is flat as in Pat, thus: PAT-ee-oh.

The flattening of the "a" in words of Spanish origin is natural and traditional in American speech, and is not debased nor corrupt as some purists would have us believe. Note the flat "a" in these Spanish loan words: ranch, canyon, plaza, corral, stampede, cafeteria, etc.

Uncle Sam Takes the Ball

Americans Spend Millions For Queer Mail Order Contraptions

By MARY JANE MOORE

If you want to see some of the strangest looking contraptions ever conceived by the mind of man, don't try to crash gate at the Oak Ridge atomic plant. Just look over the fake medical aids rounded up by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration, the Post Office Department, and other Federal agencies cooperating in the never-ending job of putting mail order "doctors" out of business.

There's an amazing array of trick and useless devices—all done up with wires and doodads—to make them look important; fat reducers; sure-fire givers of Hercules strength to puny people; machines sold to credulous folk and designed to give ordinary tap water wonder-working power; health belts; and countless more.

Don't laugh at the old gold-brick "con" game, which was an almost eternal pastime compared with the business of selling a lot of this kind of junk to ailing folks. Don't laugh because, despite everything that Uncle Sam has been able to do, plus the efforts of medical associations and others, Americans still are pouring out millions of dollars of hard-earned money for contraptions which not only are worthless as health aids but often have dangerous effects by delaying genuine and much-needed medical treatment.

Recently one of the most scientific-looking of these miracle achievers, yet one that somehow did not qualify when put to the acid test by Uncle Sam's experts, was promoted as being capable of increasing the vitality of those persons who were not exactly invalids but who could not navigate through this sinful world with a really desirable vim, vigor and vitality. Wires were supposed to be attached to a wrist and leg of the puny one, and thence to electric light fixtures; whereupon another section of the device, a kind of tubing, was to be placed in water of different temperatures from that of the surrounding air. This done, the electricity was to be turned on, and then, after a few moments the patient was supposed to find himself in possession of a highly superior kind of pep.

Rescuing Bald Heads
Many and varied have been the electric caps that have been designed to rescue the bald-headed man. Perhaps there are some good ones, for quite a few seem to be bought these days by the hopeful hairless. Nor is Uncle Sam going to pick a quarrel with their sponsors until he has proved by carefully devised tests that such bonnets will not grow luxuriant locks as claimed. Yet, by and large, it is safe to say that they fall sadly by the wayside in this regard.

Government authorities have on file a device whose inventor claimed it would increase the height of the small man at least two inches, and in many cases from four to five and a half inches. The procedure in achieving this result was very simple, the promoter pointed out in his ballyhoo. All the tiny fellows need do, he said, was to "suspend their body by the neck with the apparatus, thereby loosening up the spinal cord." And, presto! a couple of inches or more would straightway attach themselves to the lucky patient.

But for some mysterious reason the scheme failed to work. As a matter of fact, the many purchasers raised such a lively commotion that Federal authorities saw to it the inventor stepped clear out of his ambitious maneuvers.

Imagine their surprise when they discovered that this saviour of short men himself was only a trifle over five feet tall!

Another strange device was extremely popular all over the country a few years ago. It bore the name of "sex detector." It was supposed to enable anybody to determine offhand whether a given object, animate or inanimate, was male or female.

There were many kinds of such contraptions but nearly all of them were similar in at least one respect. They consisted of a small wooden peg or ball attached to a thread. In order to make a test a person simply held the string in his hand over the object and watched the direction taken by the peg or ball. If it swung slightly one way, then the object was female; if it swerved the other way it was male; and if the peg stood stock still, the object was neuter gender.

Among the things advertised as being examined successfully in such fashion were eggs, fishes, soy beans and even ears of corn. One sex detector was supposed to determine whether or not an egg was fertile or infertile, and another device whether the egg ultimately would develop into a rooster or a hen. It hardly need be said that neither contraption did the trick under guidance of the Government investigators. The real situation they explain, is that the direction taken by the peg or ball, as well as its speed, is determined entirely by the steadiness of the hand which holds it. And just about one man in twenty can hold the device without it wavering at least enough to be noticeable.

It is to be suspected that the inventor of one of these gadgets had a bit more imagination than actual scientific knowledge, for he announced to an exceedingly credulous world that his particular sex detector had such uncanny psychic powers that it could tell the sex of a soy bean. Wonderful, if true. But it did not happen to be true for the reason that, as every plant scientist knows, the soy bean contains both male and female elements.

Sold by Sharpers

What kind of people are behind all these fantastic devices? According to Uncle Sam's investigators the answer is that while the out and out sharper is the chief offender, nevertheless all manner of folks have entered the picture from time to time. One government investigator tells this illustrative tale:

"I once happened to be in a large mid-Western city and took occasion to call at an address at-

So They Say

We believe that recent events in China may present a case-history which, if adequately explored, documented and reported, will serve further to alert the people of Asia and the Pacific and indeed of all the world to a danger to which none of us can be indifferent.—U. S. delegate to the UN John Foster Dulles.

Some prices are clearly out of line and should be controlled.—Rep. Thomas Jenkins (R., Ohio).

There is no amount of discipline in the world that will make me vote for the Brannan (fama) plan or socialized medicine.—Sen. Burnet Maybank, (D., S. C.), on party regularity.

tributed to a particularly wild health scheme. Picture my utter surprise when I found a handsome, matronly-looking woman of obvious refinement in charge. To my queries she replied that she had but recently inherited the business but knew very little about the particular treatment now presumably under her direction.

"Really, the good woman was horrified when I explained the real nature of the business and that it was unlawful to send the fraudulent treatment through the mails, or to secure money from customers by the same method. Naturally enough, I advised her to slip out of the shady business at the earliest possible moment. A word to the wise was sufficient. Nor did the lady personally suffer as the result of my investigations, though some of my associates wanted to prosecute. My reply was: 'Why ruin the life of an obviously innocent woman?'"

Plenty of other men and women of high intelligence and qualified standing in the community have played the quack mail order game to advantage, official records show. A Post Office inspector once trailed one notorious concern to a certain address in a large town and learned that the "Smith Laboratories" were imaginary, and, furthermore, that their so-called manager was an accredited pharmacist, a registered druggist, a bank director, a member of the Better Business Bureau, a director in various well known fraternal organizations, and a pillar of his church. But these highly creditable affiliations did not prevent this worthy man from snatching away something like $450,000 a year from the sick, the near-sick and the infirm. During a period of ten years this "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" had been engaged in shady mail order schemes claiming to restore lost youth.

Testimonial Racket

The testimonial racket always is a prominent feature in the well laid plans of these quack mail order doctors. The public falls for testimonials time and time again. They are the quack's greatest asset and are exceedingly deceptive. Any one with clever methods and suitable facilities can get testimonials galore for a mere solution, say, of salt and sugar dropped into the eye, or spread elsewhere on the body, to cure anything from cancer to gun-shot wounds.

For instance, the testimonial givers of a certain scheme to rejuvenate youth were a pathetic lot when brought into court to testify not long ago. Mostly they were old men but there were a few young ones, some more or less impaired in health after swallowing some of the alleged rejuvenation tablets. A few of the group, too, felt somewhat improved. But that was natural enough. The psychology of the wonder-working medicine did the trick. Whereupon the swallows of the tablets sent testimonials to the promoter.

What did he do with them? Plenty. He doctored them up so they were entirely garbled and then returned them to his dupes for signature. A few protested but their scruples soon were overcome by small amounts of money, amounting to between $5 and $10. With the signed statement, their pictures were supposed to be sent along. In a good many cases such photographs were unsatisfactory to the promoter's critical eye. So he doctored them up to make them look younger and more appealing.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

BUT NOT FORGOTTEN—There never was a spreading chestnut tree under which the Gladstone village smithy stood—but the smith and the smithy are still there after some 34 years.

The blacksmith is Carl Nyberg, Sr.—but it should be immediately noted that he no longer shoes horses.

Mr. Nyberg came to our attention following a recent column in which we described the passing of the oldtime blacksmith shop, and reported J. L. Heirman, county agricultural agent, as saying that he knew of no one in Delta county who is now in the business of fitting iron shoes to the hoofs of horses.

In the mail the other day came the following communication:

"You write in today's (Jan. 5) column 'There is no village blacksmith in Delta county.' Go over to Gladstone, and in back of the postoffice you will find a building facing Tenth street with a street sign 'Nyberg & Son.' Carl, Sr., some 70 years old, is still plying his trade in the same place over 40 years. Lets get on the beam! That goes for Heirman, too."

ON THE BEAM—In an effort to get back on the beam we telephoned our friend and Gladstone trouble-shooter Tom Bolger, who reported that he knows Mr. Nyberg very well and would stop in for a talk with him about the business of shoeing horses.

A few hours later Tom telephoned to make his report.

"Mr. Nyberg said it's been a number of years, he thinks about six years ago, that he shod his last horse," he said. "That was an exception and he did it to accommodate a man. Otherwise he stopped shoeing horses some 12 or 15 years ago."

WITH MORE LIGHT—Tom said he had talked to Mr. Nyberg at his shop for quite awhile.

"He said he doesn't know at this time of anyone in the county who is shoeing horses," Tom continued. "He said there may be a blacksmith in the lumber camps, but if there is he doesn't know about it."

These statements from Mr. Nyberg supported the opinions previously expressed in the column and those of Joe Heirman, the county agent, who gets around the county more than anyone else we know.

FOR A LONG TIME—To the best of Mr. Nyberg's recollection he has been in his present blacksmith shop for about 34, not 40 years. But the Miller blacksmith shop was located there before Nyberg went in, so there has been a smithy in the same building for a half-century or more.

Although he has been in business for many years, Nyberg had his best years in shoeing horses back around 1924-25 when the state constructed concrete paving on Highway M-35 North Hill.

At that time mechanized equipment had not yet come into general use and horses still held their own for hauling materials and grading the roadbed. The contractor had a lot of draft horses on the job and it kept Nyberg busy fitting them with shoes.

Nyberg also shod horses for the old Northwest Coopers and Lumber company, where a barn at the Buckeye plant was filled with horses used around the mill yards.

In the later years as tractors moved into the woods and on the farms, the demand for horse shoeing dwindled. Nyberg has given away the metal shoes that he had in stock, most of them to farmers or woodsmen who can trim a hoof and nail on a shoe if necessary.

STILL A BLACKSMITH—Mr. Nyberg is still a blacksmith in the true sense of the word, for he works in "black metal"—iron. At the Nyberg & Son shop they make wrought iron work, plus ice chisels, tools for woods workers, and other articles.

In the old days there also was a "white smith" who worked in white metal—tin. It was not until the days of the Roman empire and the construction of hard-surfaced roads, demanding that horses be shod with iron to prevent their hoofs from splitting, that the blacksmith and the horse became so closely associated.

Now in this mechanized age the ranks of the horse are thinning, and the blacksmith is once more occupied with his original and ancient craft.

Reservists Are In Predicament

War Makes Civilian Job Status Ticklish

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON—(NEA)—One of the most bitter by-products of the Korean war is the damage it has done to the jobs of hundreds of thousands of reservists and National Guardsmen.

Most Pentagon officials put the blame on employers. Employers blame the Pentagon. Most of the men who are affected blame both. About the only thing there is agreement on is that when this is all over, the present reserve structure of the services is going to have to be junked for something more modern and workable. Or there will have to be some kind of universal service or training.

A few typical examples tell the story best:

Case A joined the National Guard before World War II, was called to active duty and served meritoriously. He rejoined the Guard after the war. Just before Korea his firm promised him a promotion with a good increase in salary. On the basis of this he bought a new home with payments his promised raise could easily take care of.

However, when it looked as if he might be called to active duty after the Korean war started, the promotion never came through. Another man was given the job, the Guard member is about to lose his new home and all he put in it and there isn't much chance of his being called to active duty.

Just before Korea, Case B quit his job to open a business of his own. He thought he had the finances all arranged through the local bank. But when the bank learned that he was in the reserves and might be called up, it refused to go through with the loan. Now he can't get his old job back, can't get finances to start his venture, can't get a new job. And he hasn't heard from the services about a call back to duty.

Case C concerns a young man who was just starting out in the fuel-oil business. He had signed up a lot of customers for the winter just as Korea started. His competitor whispered it around that this man was a reservist who would be called to active duty and that he would never be able to deliver his oil. As a result, all of his contracts were cancelled, he could find no new customers and he lost every cent he put into the venture.

Case D is the young fellow who was called out with his Guard unit in the recent "snow emergency" to help some stranded motorists. He was gone from his job three days and when he returned was fired. All he can do is find part-time jobs laboring.

Multiply these examples by a big percentage of reservists and Guardsmen all over the U. S. to get a general idea of the problems they face in the way of getting promotions, new jobs or just keeping the ones they have.

In their own defense the business men say this:

"It just doesn't make sense to spend six months training a new man for a job if we're going to lose him right away."

"What's the sense of promoting a man to an important job when he'll only be able to hold it a couple of weeks and we'll just have to find another one for the job?"

"We can't assign a man who is liable to call to any of our important defense work. His leaving will cause a delay in our production."

The employers can point to the Air Force itself as an offender in this matter, too. The AF recently advertised for hundreds of new workers to open an air base. Next morning when a crowd of men gathered to go to work they were told by a public address system that all reservists might as well go home.

Big gripe of both employers and reservists against the services is the inability to get any positive information on a man's status. Pentagon spokesmen agree that more and more firms are being talked into handling their reserve personnel problems in a much more enlightened fashion. The Pentagon, in turn, is trying to give reservists more positive information.

Mrs. Beach is chairman of the committee.

Brightest side of the picture is the fact that defense spending is rapidly creating a labor shortage all over the country and it is getting easier all the time for reservists to get jobs.

Co-ordinators Meet In 2-Day Session

Several Upper Peninsula school men interested in student on-the-job training programs will meet tonight at 6 o'clock at the House of Ludington to hear a discussion on "Work Experience Programs in Secondary Schools."

The speaker will be Dr. William Roe of the state department of public instruction. The meeting is the start of a two-day midwinter co-ordinators' conference.

A co-operative occupational training work shop will be held Friday at the junior high school. The conference will wind up Saturday morning with a discussion on problems of co-ordinators.

Others at the conference besides Dr. Roe from the state department of public instruction are Lloyd Johnson and John J. Harris. Hugh Pierce, director of instructional materials laboratory, will represent the University of Michigan. Sam Stovel of the department of labor bureau of apprenticeship from the Soo will attend.

Local school men attending the sessions will include Supt. John A. Lemmer, Principal Edward Edick, George Ruwlich and Allan Mathison of the school faculty.

Train Hits Truck At Shingleton, None Is Injured

James Adams of Shingleton, father of Mrs. Gunnar Beck, 918 South 15th street, Escanaba, was uninjured when the truck he was driving was struck by a DSS&A train at the Shingleton crossing at 6:30 last evening.

Adams operates a sawmill and has lumbering operations in the Shingleton area.

Hoarding Of Rubber Made Illegal Today

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government made it unlawful today to hoard supplies of natural and synthetic rubber.

The National Production Authority (NPA) added rubber and a number of other items to its previously published list of materials subject to anti-hoarding provisions of the defense production act.

That act makes it unlawful to hoard designated materials. The NPA added the following other items today to its anti-hoarding list:

Industrial ethyl alcohol, chlorine, zinc dust and oxides, and these textile materials—burlap (hessian), cotton pulp, high tenacity rayon yarn, and nylon staple rayon filament yarn.

SNOW LIFT—Little Linda Jane Keene, age 3 1/2, has her hands full trying to help shovel off some of the six-inch snow that blanketed Cincinnati. The snow's not so tough, it's the snow that's too heavy.

Briefly Told

Apply For License — Applications for marriage licenses have been made at the office of the Delta county clerk's office by Maurice Miller of Escanaba and LaDonne Lindahl of Gladstone; Robert Sturdy of Gladstone Rt. 1 and Rita Desjardins of Escanaba; Walter Murrell and Alice Harvey of Milwaukee; Michael F. Rudden and Arlene J. Buckland of Escanaba.

Fishermen Fined—Oscar Johnson of Bark River Rt. 1 yesterday was arrested by conservation officers and pleaded guilty in Justice Henry Ranguette's court to a charge of fishing commercially without first obtaining a license. Johnson's eight gill nets, set through the ice of Misery Bay, were removed and then returned to him after he had paid a fine of $25 and costs of $9.35.

Name On Shanties—Hook and line fishermen and commercial fishermen who use shanties today were reminded by the conservation department that the owner must put his name and address on the shanty. Hook and line fishermen also were advised that the legal length for walleyes is 13 inches, not 14 inches as last year.

Salem Officers Are Elected At Annual Meeting

Salem Ev. Lutheran church, Rev. William F. Lutz, pastor, elected officers for the new year at the annual parish meeting held Tuesday evening at the church. Lawrence Pavlick was elected trustee; Carl Lemke and Ernest Flath, deacons; Raymond Polzin, chairman; John Kallman, recording secretary; Henry Ottensman, treasurer; Ewald Nelson, Arnold Ottensman and Clyde Moersch, financial secretaries; and Milton Zastrow, financial secretary for Synodical offerings.

Sunday school superintendent is Karl Lemke.

Eisenhower Checks On His Dutch Army For Atlantic Defense

THE HAGUE, the Netherlands — (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower went by plane to Denmark today after talks with Dutch leaders on Holland's contributions to its Atlantic alliance army.

In a statement to the press Eisenhower urged free nations to organize for the preservation of peace so that "in an atmosphere of security" living standards can be raised and "social and political gains be attained."

Referring to the 12-nation Atlantic alliance he said "anyone making a survey of the spiritual and material resources cannot doubt of success."

Copenhagen police were out all night tearing down posters put up by Danish Communists urging the American commander of western forces to go home. No arrests were made.

would create a grave situation for France.

Indochina was controlled by France from 1893 until towards the close of World War II. Then the Vichy regime assigned some areas to the Japanese. The French reoccupied the area after the war but encountered resistance by so-called Viet Minh forces which were Communist led. The fight has been going on ever since, with the French finally concentrating on holding chief ports and cities and the best agricultural sections.

Obituary

JOSEPH BEAUCHAMP
Funeral services for Joseph Beauchamp of Flat Rock will be held at St. Joseph's church Friday morning at 9 with Father Patrick O. F. M., offering the funeral mass. Burial will be in Holy Cross cemetery. The rosary will be recited at 8 tonight at the Alto Funeral Home.

Surviving members of the family also include a sister, Miss Malina Beauchamp of Mexico City, and a brother, Henry Beauchamp of Green Bay.

TOIVO L. MAKI
Funeral services for Toivo L. Maki were conducted by Rev. Am. Marin at the Methodist church in Trenary at 1 p. m. today. Burial was in Trenary cemetery.

C. Arthur Anderson sang "Near the Cross" with accompaniment by Mrs. Vance Davis and Mrs. Homer Story and Mrs. Davis sang a duet.

Bellbearers were Victor Niemi, Leonard Kaukula, Harvey Trotter, Walter Pajunen, John Hill and Leonard L. Kangas.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Maki of Detroit and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Maki of Munising attended the rites.

MISS BERTHA SCHMIDT

Campbell sang "Above the Bright Blue" during the service, accompanied by Mrs. A. V. Kenney. Burial was in Republic cemetery.

Los Angeles Man, 25, Hiccoughs Steadily For 30-Month Siege

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Jack O'Leary, who has been hiccoughing almost constantly for 30 months, sent well-wishers a belated "Happy New Year" today.

His mother, Mrs. Margaret O'Leary, said it was impossible for the family to answer the many Christmas greetings and hopes for recovery he received, so she wanted publicly to "thank each and every one who has been so kind to him."

O'Leary, 25, who was a grocery assistant manager before he was stricken, is still hiccoughing and still weighs only about 80 pounds. He normally weighed 130 pounds. The only nourishment he can retain even briefly is weak tea, bits of toast and carrots, Mrs. O'Leary said.

O'Leary had a burst appendix in June 1948. Peritonitis evidently affected the nerves and muscles of the stomach, causing the hiccoughing spasms, which occur about once a second.

Spinning Car Wheel Problem Unsolved

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT — (AP) — Have you ever had one of your car wheels spin on ice or in mud and get no traction with the other although it was on clear ground?

Most motorists have had this experience. Numerous devices have been built to overcome this but the completely satisfactory one has not yet been developed, two engineers declared today.

L. R. Buckendale and L. G. Boughner of the Timken-Detroit Axle Co. reported to the Society of Automotive Engineers on various devices that have been tried, including locking devices. These have proved somewhat less than satisfactory, they said, because of the judgment necessary to decide when, where and how the locking device should be applied or withdrawn.

Some Devices Work
Mechanical and physical requirements are such, they said, that perhaps only a mechanical or electronic brain in the mechanism could be satisfactory.

"So far," they added, "there has not come up a real answer that satisfies all the demands under all the conditions in which the driving wheels may operate."

Nevertheless several of the devices described by Buckendale and Boughner have been used by fleet owners and others using vehicles over uncertain highways. Some of these users, attending the engineers' meeting, reported they were getting good results.

Other discussions today dealt with progress in developing mechanically refrigerated motor trucks and the application of automotive rubber for uses other than in tires.

Cutbacks Expected
The auto industry's important contribution to the defense effort was emphasized last night by Undersecretary of the Army Archibald Alexander.

He told the engineers that $4,000,000,000 will be spent by the government for tanks and automotive production alone this fiscal year.

Altogether, Alexander said, American industry will net from $2,000,000,000 to $2,500,000,000 in arms contracts monthly through next June.

He said that undoubtedly many companies soon will have cutbacks in civilian production. But so far, he added, no contract awarded by the Army will "directly" stop production on any existing automotive assembly.

Bess And Margaret Are Fine Folks, Says Ruark

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK — It is hard to find much to admire in our administration today, on any side, but once in a long while you wish to knock off a fan letter. Mine would be directed at Mrs. Bess Truman, a lady who, somehow, has managed to keep clear of all the slings and arrows and deadfalls of being Mrs. President.

The nicest thing about her is that, in all the hullabaloo surrounding her old man's occupancy of the throne, you would scarcely have known that Mrs. T. was on board. She has promoted nothing to the best of my knowledge. She has joined nothing. She has not preyed upon the presidency. She has behaved publicly with the admirable restraint of Queen Elizabeth of England, of Mamie Eisenhower, of Mrs. George Marshall or Mrs. George Patton, which is to say with charm, decorum and a sense of propriety.

Nobody Knocks Her
Somehow, Mrs. Truman has remained generally unscathed by the talons of the Washington witches who delight in scratching their initials on the higher echelons. According to the best reports—I never met the lady—no body's got a tough knock against her, since in her simplicity and modesty there is nothing to knock. This is a minor miracle for Washington, a town in which the candid is never out of season.

During Mr. Roosevelt's regime I greatly admired the public energy of his spouse, and also the economic energy of his spawn. But sometimes you get the feeling that FDR was competing for prominence with his own family, none of which was actually elected to federal office. This seemed a little peculiar, to say the least, for FDR was a large man, with plenty of horsepower of his own.

In the Truman household, there have been three women only, and none has affected competition to the office. Mr. Truman's devotion to his late mother, was idyllic. Bess, as mentioned, has played the part of admirable helpmeet. And Margaret's worst sin has been an attempt to hew out a career of her own with her voice. Up to now she has learned little on the White House.

State Gets $345,056 For New Hospitals

WASHINGTON — (AP)—Michigan will receive $345,056 as its share of the new $10,000,000 federal hospital construction aid fund for the fiscal year ending next June 30.

This will enable work to go ahead on some of the 20 projects postponed or dropped after $75,000,000 was lopped off the aid funds for the nation as a whole in the current year.

Congress originally appropriated $150,000,000 for hospital construction aid to be distributed among the states in the current fiscal year.

Sum Cut In Half

As an economy move, the budget bureau last fall directed that this sum should be cut in half. This forced the states to curtail sharply their planned programs.

However, a move developed in the "lame duck" session of the 81st Congress to restore the $75,000,000 cut. The Senate went along with this but the House rebelled.

Eventually, a compromise was reached on $10,000,000. This was included in the $20,000,000,000 supplemental defense appropriations bill sent to the White House on the last day of the old Congress.

Michigan received $2,553,413 in hospital aid funds in the distribution of the $75,000,000 after the budget bureau cut. Thus it will get a total of $2,593,469 for the 1950-51 fiscal year with the addition of the $345,056.

Several In Peninsula

After the $75,000,000 cut was imposed, the state advised the public health service that 20 projects would have to be postponed or dropped from the 1951 program. Presumably a few of these now can be restored; the public health service said that would be up to the state agency administering the program.

The 20 are: (number of beds listed first and federal share of the cost second): St. Joseph's at Menominee, 67 and $92,106; Blodgett at Grand Rapids, 132 and $414,900; Grand Haven Municipal, 32 and $100,000; Butterworth at Grand Rapids, 140 and $100,000; St. Mary's at Grand Rapids, 100 and $200,000; Receiving at Detroit, 100 and $200,000; Northern Michigan Tuberculosis Sanitarium at Gaylord, 50 and $200,000; Lapeer county at Lapeer, 50 and $400,000; Port Huron General, 50 and $200,000; new hospital at Port Huron, 100 and $600,000; Mercy at Muskegon, 100 and $700,000; Memorial at Owosso, 50 and $237,000; Charlevoix hospital, 40 and $260,000; St. Joseph at Mt. Clemens, 100 and $300,000; St. Ignace Community, 20 and $125,000.

Today's Great Hope for Those Suffering Aches and Pains

Due to Lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin

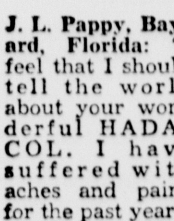

Why Settle for Symptomatic Relief • Read How Just a Few of Thousands Have Relieved the Cause of Such Deficiencies with HADACOL!

Mrs. Homer Hames, R.D. 1, Newport, Ohio: "I have been having aches for a time, and I did everything I knew of to help without success. So I took three bottles of HADACOL. I sure feel good now. I couldn't hardly do my housework before, but now I can get my work done good. I went and got me a job at the pottery and really don't feel tired at the end of the day. I can sleep good at night now. Thanks a million for HADACOL. I wouldn't be without it. I am thirty-two years old."

A. M. Hurst, R.R. #2, Box 205, Perry, Florida: "I was born September 23, 1872. I heard of your HADACOL having the vitamins B₁, B₂, and B₆ in liquid form and that sounded good to me. I bought and have taken two large bottles. Now I do not feel any more aches and pains. I intend to keep right on taking HADACOL."

J. L. Pappy, Bayard, Florida: "I feel that I should tell the world about your wonderful HADACOL. I have suffered with aches and pains for the past years, which worried me considerably. But, after taking two large bottles and one small bottle of HADACOL, I am now doing all my work again, and feel better. I sleep good at night, eat hearty, because of your wonderful product. I am seventy-five years of age, and far more active than the average man, and feel sure that if I had not heard about HADACOL, I would not of been able to achieve the things I have done since taking it. I will always praise your wonderful HADACOL."

Senator Dudley J. LeBlanc, the Man Responsible for Today's Great HADACOL

Senator LeBlanc has been in public life since he was quite a young man and he has always advocated the cause of the oppressed and the downtrodden. It was he who introduced the law in Louisiana that gives every deserving man and woman in Louisiana a pension of $30.00; it was he who introduced the law creating the office of Service Commissioner, the duties of which office is to see that every deserving ex-soldier and veteran receives his just reward from the Federal and State Government; it was he who has consistently fought the battle of the school teachers in the halls of the legislature; he worked untiringly for the farmers and the laboring man.

In view of the fact that this man has worked so untiringly for your cause and in your behalf, don't you believe that it was reasonable to assume that in his untiring efforts he would someday find something to assist you besides rendering governmental assistance.

The word "HADACOL" has become a by-word throughout this Nation. Read the testimonials on this page. Ask your friends who have taken HADACOL the benefits they have received from it. Don't hesitate. Place your confidence in a man who has by his past activities demonstrated to you that he is your friend—that his heart beats in sympathy with your cause—and if you are suffering from deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron, don't hesitate—don't delay—buy HADACOL—the product made by the best friend you have ever had.

Refuse substitutes.
There's only one true HADACOL

Four Brothers Await Death From Dystrophy, Disease With No Cure

NEW YORK—(AP)—Four young brothers mark time in their Manhattan tenement flat, calmly awaiting death from a disease for which doctors know no cure.

The Godfrey brothers, George Jr., 24, Roy, 21, Robert, 16, and Michael, 12, are suffering from muscular dystrophy, the dread progressive disease that always ends up attacking the respiratory powers.

Ten years ago, red-haired Roy found it harder and harder to climb the five flights of stairs to the flat. The doctors finally diagnosed it as muscular dystrophy.

Out in the Pacific, George didn't know he had it until after the war when he found it increasingly difficult to climb the ladders of the destroyer Sutherland. The navy shipped him home.

Since then, Robert and Michael, too, have begun slowing up a little.

There's no aura of tragedy about the neat, well-scrubbed flat. The doomed youths while away the time singing. Roy sings baritone parts, George the tenor — and Robert and Michael join in.

Mrs. Amonice Godfrey, their careworn mother, leaves the house every morning at four o'clock for her floor-cleaning job. George Godfrey, father of the family, works at night as a waiter.

The only hope left, said Mrs. Godfrey, lies in Dr. Ade T. Milhorat, who is giving his full time to the fight against the disease.

Mrs. Godfrey said that Dr. Milhorat tries all the new treatments on Roy. When the $10-a-day hospital bill got to be too much, the doctor paid it himself.

Mrs. Godfrey said: "I'm pretty sure the doctor is going to strike some cure soon."

Wife Gets Prison

FLINT—(AP)—Mrs. Irene Bourcier, 33, has been sentenced to two and a half to 15 years in the Detroit House of Correction for the knife-slitting of her husband, Eugene, 31. The husband was slain during a fight in their apartment last June 5. Mrs. Bourcier, sentenced by circuit judge Philip Elliott, claimed self defense.

Club Meeting

WELLS—The Mr. and Mrs. club met Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Donovan in Bark River. Cards were played and a tasty lunch served. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Keneally had high scores. Mrs. Henry Desmond and Max Holzgrebe were second, and Mrs. Max Holzgrebe and Henry Desmond, low. Mrs. Grace Tyndall received the slam box. The next meeting will be held at the Max Holzgrebe home.

James Blake has returned to Detroit where he is employed after a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Blake.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Johnson and daughter Janis motored to Chesterton, Ind., where they will make their home. They have been living at Wells with Mrs. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Blake.

Lois Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gardner, was admitted to St. Francis hospital for an appendicitis operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baker and children, Donnie, Terry and Wayne, have returned to Milwaukee after visiting at the home of Mrs. Baker's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Baker, Bay View.

Mrs. Gaylord Blake and son LeRoy visited in Gwinn during the weekend with Mrs. Blake's mother, Mrs. Rose Dittich, and her brother, Carl. Mr. Dittich has just completed his new home there.

Mark Mortier, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Mortier of Gladstone, is staying with his grandmother, Mrs. Henry Desmond of Wells, while his sister, Darlene Ann, is a patient at St. Francis hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dufour have returned to Winona, Minn., after attending the funeral services for Thomas Dufour. While here they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Louis Dufour of Wells.

Clarence Arbour, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Arbour of Bay View, who enlisted in the Army Air force, has arrived in San Antonio, Tex. for basic training.

Schools Reopen

Wells Central and Bay View schools have reopened following the annual holiday recess.

Camp Fire Party

WELLS—The Wells Ne-Top-Pew Camp Fire Girls closed their activities for the season with a holiday party at the home of Mrs. Arthur Weberg of Wells. Games were played and gifts exchanged and a supper was served by a committee consisting of Laverne Couillard, Nancy Liberty, Nancy Pilon and Shirley Grenier. This was the third holiday party for the group. The first, a Halloween party was under the supervision of Mrs. Melvin Jacobsen of Wells and the second, at Thanksgiving, was supervised by Mrs. Tyler Way. Honors were earned by the girls who took part in arrangements.

Margarine Ad Wording Restricted By Law

LANSING—(AP)—The agriculture department has warned oleomargarine makers against advertising which adopts any combination of words used to describe dairy products.

Miles A. Nelson, head of the bureau of marketing and enforcement, said his department was ordering several oleo makers to stop advertising their products as "farm fresh" or "fresh and rich." The oleo law, he said, specifically forbids manufacturers to advertise their products with such words as "cream," "fresh," "dairy," "farm," or other combinations used by farm products.

REINDEER ENDURANCE

A good team of reindeer will keep up a speed of 10 to 12 miles an hour for a full day in the early winter if they are in good condition after summer pasturing.

Housekeeping Is Easier for Harriet

Harriet's life is a busy one. She's chief cook, bottle washer and grocery buyer for a hungry husband and three lively youngsters who call her "mom". She doesn't have time to go from store to store pricing things before she buys, but she does have to figure costs closely to make both ends meet. It's simple for Harriet because of her daily newspaper. She sees advertisements from all the stores and plans her shopping right in her own living room. She sees pictures and prices of that winter coat for five-year old Susie. She finds where she can buy the skates that eight-year old Tommy wants. She sees a bargain on the shirts Dad likes best.

But that isn't all her daily newspaper does for Harriet. It tells her about Aunt Mary's 70th birthday party. She enjoys seeing pictures of the wedding she attended yesterday afternoon. She learns what's happening in the world. She reads the Woman's Page for practical tips on how to improve her home and do it the easy way.

Yes, Harriet's a busy woman. She relies on her daily newspaper to help her with her work . . . to keep her informed about world affairs and to bring her relaxation. Her daily newspaper does that for her . . . and you too.

YOUR NEWSPAPER IS YOUR EVERY DAY PARTNER . . . SERVING YOU IN COUNTLESS WAYS.

U-M Professor Talks On Cancer Radium Treatment Is Discussed

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.— There is a need for greater understanding of the conditions which must be favorable if radium and X-ray treatment of cancer is to be of value, a University of Michigan doctor reported today.

Speaking before a meeting at the Indiana University Medical Center, Dr. Isadore Lampe, U-M professor of roentgenology, outlined four factors involved in achieving "radio-curability" of cancerous tissue.

He listed them as: 1) the ability of the diseased tissue to respond to radiation treatment; 2) size and extent of the diseased area; 3) location of the cancerous site; and 4) the ability of normal tissue surrounding the diseased area to recover from radiation.

"If any one of these factors is found to be unfavorable, radiation treatment cannot bring about a cure," Dr. Lampe emphasized.

He indicated that all body tissue is sensitive to radiation, but that it differs in degree with respect to the dosage quantity.

Studies have shown that like cells in the same location will not all be effected by a particular radiation dose, he said.

He described the action of radiation as a biological method of treating cancer as compared to the mechanical method used by the surgeon. The surgeon's problem is one of determining whether the cancerous area can be safely subtracted from the body, whereas the radiologist's problem is concerned with changing the character of the body cells in the diseased area as well as the surrounding normal tissue.

New Antibiotic Is Discovered

May Aid In Some Types Of Diarrhea

A new antibiotic which may well rival the sulfas, penicillin and streptomycin in its effectiveness against disease has been discovered in the laboratories of the Michigan department of health, Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, announced today.

The antibiotic is a product of a peach-colored soil mold, the 3-590th of 17,000 molds tested in the department's four-year-old antibiotic research program.

Based on its structural form, it has been given the name synnematin (pronounced sin NEE mat-in) which means "fused thread." Synnematin kills the organisms of several diseases in test tubes and in animals. Tests in humans have not been done.

The new antibiotic is effective against diseases caused by certain Salmonella organisms for which no present adequate treatment exists. Salmonella organisms are the cause of certain types of diarrhea, including the type which causes the deaths of numerous Michigan infants in hospital nurseries. The Salmonellas are also responsible for certain types of septicemia and for typhoid fever.

In the test tube it appears that synnematin may also be effective against tuberculosis, undulant fever and certain streptococcus organisms.

Credit for the discovery is given to four of the department's young researchers: Dr. Russell Gottshall, bacteriologist; Dr. John M. Roberts, mycologist (mold expert); Dr. Lucille Portwood, chemist; and Jay C. Jennings, bacteriologist.

While much additional testing in animals and much purification remains to be done before production for human use can be undertaken, the department has applied for a patent on the antibiotic in the name of the State of Michigan.

Annual Meeting Of Calvary, Rapid
River, Last Night

Calvary Lutheran church of Rapid River, of which Rev. Wilbert Johnson is pastor held its annual congregational meeting with election of officers and organization of the board last evening at the church.

Robert Vietzke was elected deacon and Edward Olson and Henry Person, trustees. The parish also elected Miss Alyce Holmgren, Sunday school superintendent and Mrs. Louis Sorgenfrei, assistant superintendent.

Mrs. Edward Olson was named to represent the parish at the Superior Conference convention to be held in Marquette. Carlyle Holmgren was appointed alternate.

The board of administration met for organization after the business meeting and elected Carlyle Holmgren, vice chairman, and Louis Sorgenfrei, secretary. The board of trustees selected Curtis Christiansen as treasurer of the congregation and Mrs. Harry Person as financial secretary.

The newly elected officers will be installed at the worship service Sunday morning.

'The Circus Baby'
On Story Program

"The Circus Baby", a story of Mrs. Elephant who tried to prove that an elephant baby is the same as a real baby, will be told by Miss Betty M. Harris, children's librarian at story hour at Carnegie public library Saturday morning at 10. "Oscar, the Trained Seal" also will be on the story program. Last Saturday's story hour was attended by 25 children.

Church Events

St. Stephen's Auxiliary
St. Stephen's Woman's Auxiliary will meet Friday, Jan. 12, at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. E. L. Nicholson, 428 South 11th street.

Central Choir
The adult choir of Central Methodist church will meet for rehearsal at 7:30 this evening.

BETROTHAL TOLD—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Friedgen, 537 North 18th street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carole, to Melvin Gabrielson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Erick Gabrielson of 605 North 8th street, Gladstone. The date of the wedding has not been set. (Juettin Photo)

Officers Elected
By St. Ann Club
Last Evening

St. Ann Social club re-elected Mrs. Joseph Osier president for the coming year at their monthly meeting in St. Ann hall last night.

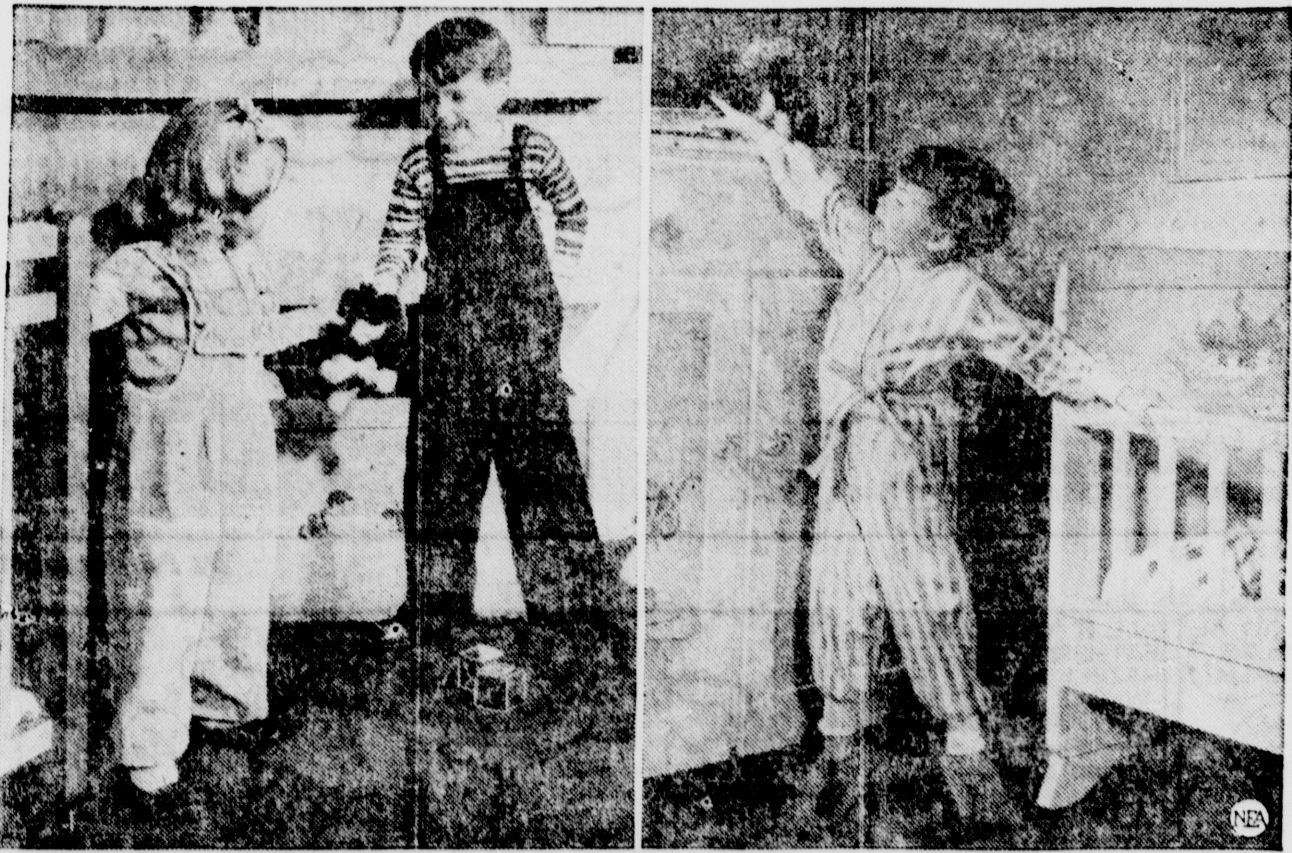

Elected to serve with Mrs. Osier were Mrs. George Peterson, first vice president; Mrs. Doris French, second vice president; Mrs. Joseph Gregorio, third vice president; Mrs. George Belanger, recording secretary; Mrs. Octave Perron, treasurer; Mrs. G. E. Christie, membership chairman; Mrs. Joseph LaChapelle, publicity chairman; Mrs. Thomas Tougnaunt, sick committee chairman; Mrs.

Ruth Snyder, first year auditor; Miss Lillian Grenier, second year auditor; and Mrs. Arthur Guzzonato, third year auditor.

After the business meeting, progressive card games were played and prizes awarded for each. In 1950, Mrs. Helmer Peterson held first place, Mrs. Melvin Carlson, second. Bridge winners were Mrs. Octave Perron, first and Mrs. Sarah Richer, second. Pinocle honors were scored by Miss Natalie Allo, first, and Miss Lillian Grenier, second. Guest award went to Mrs. Dan Garrett.

Lunch was served by the chairman, Mrs. Joseph LaFave and her committee. Fifty-seven members attended the meeting.

Mother's Household Tasks Are Eased
By Metal Snap Fasteners on Tots' Wear

These practical playclothes are in corduroy. The little girl (left) wears a pink corduroy creeper with ruffles around the bib and gripper fasteners to make dressing easy. Brother's overalls are dark blue corduroy with gripper fasteners at waistband and straps to give extra inches as he grows. He wears flannelette pajamas (right) with knitted bands at wrists and ankles. Corduroy slippers have snap fasteners that adjust to foot size.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Staff Writer
NEW YORK (NEA)—Children's fashions which have metal snap fasteners are apt to make mother's household tasks easier. Made to replace tiny buttons and miniature buttonholes on small garments, these fasteners reduce the contents of a mending basket to almost nothing.

Lately, these snap fasteners have appeared on clothing for children of all ages, from layette to grammar school. Such fasteners even make slippers of sturdy corduroy adjustable to individual foot size.

On a pink corduroy creeper for a small girl, these gripper fasteners are an aid to easy dressing. And on dark blue corduroy overalls for a little boy, gripper fasteners at waistband and straps make dressing simpler and allow extra inches for growing. Since these overalls adjust to boy's growth, they're balm to any budget.

Flannelette pajamas for a small boy in a gay striped pattern have knitted bands at the wrists and ankles to keep him warm. And with front gripper fasteners, these pajamas encourage self-dressing. Growing boys and girls, whose clothes take the roughest wear, can be completely dressed for playtime in corduroy or denim overalls, shirts and play skirts that have sturdy metal snap fasteners. These fasteners also appear on flannelette and seersucker robes and on raincoats.

Fabrics For The Coming Season Will Be Light-Weight

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—The threat of material shortages is going to result in some mighty wispy clothes for women this summer.

Complete costumes, including topcoat, on display at the California Apparel Creators' spring fashion week show, often weigh less than three pounds.

Individual items—made of sheer nylon, rayon or silk—range in weight from a one-ounce bra-siere to a reversible overcoat, wool on one side and silk on the other, that tips the scales at one pound 11 ounces.

The trend toward paper-thin fabrics is keeping pace with the trend toward lower necklines and higher skirts. Manufacturers are out to conserve cloth, which is daily becoming more expensive and harder to get.

Here are a few samples of the lightweight stuff:

A one and a half-ounce panty girdle; a three ounce slip; a four-ounce halter blouse—a similar model with sleeves weighs six; a 10-ounce pleated nylon skirt; six-ounce pleated play shorts; seven-ounce dress; a filmy black nylon nightgown at four ounces and a nine-ounce strapless bathing suit of two-way stretch nylon.

Nighties and foundation garments are virtually transparent. Outer fabrics, however, are so tightly woven as to be indistinguishable from heavier fabrics.

If you want a delectable glaze for a sliced banana pie, thicken a can of apricot nectar with a little cornstarch.

Elephants Outwit Indian Planters

LUCKNOW, India —(P)—Wild elephants can be a nuisance. Twelve of them have been eating rice paddy stacked in a colonization area in Northern Uttar Pradesh State. Efforts to run them off have been unsuccessful.

Men of the colonization area first took out a few tractors to scare the animals away. But the animals charged, scaring them away. Next day, the men started a huge fire near the paddy stacks to frighten the elephants. The animals moved to a nearby rivulet, filled their trunks with water and sprayed the fire, putting it out. The Colonization Department has sent for hunters.

Adjustment In Salaries Voted

School Employees To Get $100 Each

A cost of living adjustment in the salaries of Manistique public school employees was approved by the city board of education at a regular meeting Tuesday night.

The board voted to grant a $100 adjustment bonus to all full time employees, with a pro rata adjustment to part time workers. The amounts are to be paid immediately in separate checks, it was decided.

Amount of the increase is based on an anticipated surplus in current school year revenue.

When local teachers presented a request for a cost of living adjustment last fall, the board decided to defer action until January at which time it could be determined how much extra state money would be available.

A. F. Hall, superintendent, reported to the board that the surplus would approximate $5,000.

State money exceeded expectations by about $10,000, wiping out an anticipated budgetary deficit of $5,000 and leaving the balance for the salary adjustment.

Approve Investment

The board also passed a resolution accepting renewal of the Rosenthal scholarship fund, expressing appreciation for it, and agreeing to invest it in interest-bearing securities. Amount to be invested is $1,750 and Keith Bundy and J. Mauritz Carlson were appointed on a committee to make the investment.

A bid for the purchase of 50 tons of coal for Lakeside school was awarded to the Girvin Coal and Dock company at a price of $12.90 per ton.

The board also agreed to underwrite the cost of the school milk program for the rest of the year. This, it was pointed out, would amount to about $420.

Supt. Hall was authorized to attend a meeting of school superintendents in Grand Rapids on January 18.

March Of Dimes Committee Here Announced Today

A full slate of committees to conduct the March of Dimes campaign in Schoolcraft county has now been selected, it is announced by Mrs. A. W. Cockram, county campaign director.

The drive for polio funds will open January 15 and continue until the end of the month.

Committee chairmen follow: Hiawatha township, Mrs. Hennrich; Mattson; Thompson township, Miss Katherine Nelson; Inwood township, Ray Riquette; at Cooks and Mt. George Parks at Stoughton; Mueller township, Mrs. Adeler LaCroix; Germfask township, Mrs. Katherine Shay; Seney township, Mrs. William Boonenberg; Doyle township, Mrs. Edwin Johnson; Manistique township, Mrs. Frank Arrowood.

Mrs. Cockram, who will personally direct the solicitation in the city of Manistique, said that the need for funds, both nationally and locally, is greater this year than ever before.

January Circuit Court Term Ends Wednesday Noon

The January term of circuit court adjourned at noon yesterday after being in session since Monday afternoon.

Concluding action of the term was the awarding of a judgment in favor of Josephine Rosie against the American Hospital-McClain Benefit insurance company. She was awarded $232.75 plus costs of $36. The case was not listed on the docket. The case was uncontested, with the law firm of Herbert, Wood and Hood representing the plaintiff.

Other matters were discussed in chambers and taken under advisement, it was reported by G. Leslie Bouschor, county clerk.

100 Present At Dinner Meeting

Hospital Auxiliary Function Is Success

Approximately 100 members were present at a dinner meeting of the Schoolcraft Memorial hospital auxiliary Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian church. Included in the group were 20 new members.

James I. Boyce, managing director of the hospital, expressed appreciation to auxiliary members for the work they were doing in behalf of the hospital. The auxiliary, he said, was now definitely a part of the hospital and its members were ambassadors of goodwill for the institution.

Work reports were given by Mrs. Edwin Crook, Mrs. W. J. Bruley, Mrs. A. W. Heitman and Mrs. Carl Olson.

Mrs. John Moffat was appointed chairman of publicity for the auxiliary. Her committee will plan special features of interest for hospital contacts, Mrs. Leon Nicholson, auxiliary president, reported.

Proceeding the business meeting a short musical program, arranged by Mrs. I. J. McLaughlin, was presented. Included were piano selections by Miss Jean Charron; vocal numbers by Miss Helen Charron accompanied by her sister, Jean; and accordion numbers by Mrs. G. Leslie Bouschor.

The next regular meeting will be held early in May, with Mrs. Frank Arrowood and Mrs. Kermit Wolfe, both of Manistique township, in charge. The date will be announced later.

Stock Dividend Of $25,000 Declared By Banking Firm

Declaration of a stock dividend of $25,000 and an increase in the capital stock from $50,000 to $75,000 featured meetings of the stockholder and directors of the State Savings Bank Tuesday afternoon.

Par value of 500 outstanding shares of the bank's stock, also was changed from $100 to $25, and the issuance of 2,000 shares of new common stock at the $25 par value was authorized.

The stock dividend was represented by the issuance of 1,000 shares of the new common stock to stockholders of record.

In making his annual report to stockholders, who met Tuesday previous to the directors' session, William J. Shinar, president, said that during December the bank had transferred $10,000 from undivided profits to surplus.

All officers and directors of the bank were re-elected. They are as follows:

Directors: G. H. Burrell, August Carlson, E. E. Cookson, Frank Hartman, Frank J. Heinz, and William J. Shinar.

Officers are: Wm. J. Shinar, president; Frank J. Heinz, vice president; H. K. Bundy, cashier; Leonard Males, assistant cashier.

City Briefs

Roland Pontius returned to Milwaukee Wednesday following a few days visit here with Conrad Norbotten.

Mrs. A. M. Swanson, of Ishpeming, has arrived to spend the winter with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Olson, 365 Lake street.

Miss Helen Hastings, daughter of Mrs. E. J. Hastings, 608 Oak street, has returned to Detroit after visiting here.

During the business meeting of the city board of education Tuesday night, it was decided at a regular meeting of the city board of education Tuesday night.

The debt service millage, on the local tax books for the past 20 years, will expire in February unless the extension is approved. Funds derived from a continuance of the tax will be placed in a building and site fund which, it is proposed, will be used first to reconition and reopen Riverside school and later to finance other proposed classroom expansions in the system.

Date for a special election at which the proposal will be submitted to the electorate was not selected.

Need for more classroom space to handle increased school enrollment during the next 10 years was discussed at length by the board. On the basis of a pre-school census taken in 1950, it is expected that a sharp increase in kindergarten enrollment will take place in 1952 and 1953. The proposed reopening of Riverside school will provide adequate facilities to handle this increased enrollment through the kindergarten and the primary grades, it is believed.

Further expansion of school facilities to meet requirements when this 1952-53 "bulge" rolls into junior and senior high school was discussed by board members.

A. F. Hall, superintendent, recommended state study be undertaken now to provide a solution to the increased enrollment when it hits the upper grades in 1959.

It was indicated at the session that civic leaders will be requested to meet with school officials in their effort to find an answer to the coming enrollment crisis.

1,100 See Portage Lake Defeat Escanabans, 9-4

The Escanaba Hawks hope they got all their "bad" hockey out of their systems in the first period of last night's game against the league leading Portage Lake Pioneers.

Portage Lake won the game, 9-4, after an almost complete defense collapse by the Hawks in the first period gave the unbeaten and dangerous Pioneers a 5-1 margin.

After that the Hawks came back and played the great Tony Buckovich and crew on even terms—but the damage had been done. You just don't spot Portage a four-goal lead in the first period and win the game.

The largest crowd of the year—more than 1,100 fans—packed the fairgrounds rink and saw a good game despite the unfortunate Hawk start.

Into Danger Territory
In that first period, the Hawks were slow to move back on defense and often, when they did get back to try and help Ben Artwisch in the nets, they cleared the puck into the scoring trough instead of whipping it out of the danger zone. As a result, Artwisch was the innocent victim.

But the Hawks came back scrapping the last two periods and made a game of it. Portage played without two Buckovich brothers—Joe, who had to work, and Mike, who suffered an injured knee in a previous game.

But the Ruelle brothers—Jackie and Bernie—look over in great style and the whole Portage team put on a sensational exhibition of brilliant skating and stick handling.

One Period Hat Trick
Jackie Ruelle pulled the hat trick in the first period when he banged across three of the five Portage goals scored in that period. His first one, at 7:12, opened the game scoring and was without help. On the other two he was assisted by his brother, Bernie. Jack Ricci also aided on his third. Both Ruelles joined to assist Tony Buckovich get his only score of the game in this period. Fran Lowney scored Portage's fifth on a solo.

Escanaba's only score in the fateful first came on a brilliant solo dash and whistling shot by Marc Olson that split the nets before Goalie Larry Anderson knew where it was.

Match Scores
Ted Olson got the first of his two goals in the second period on assists by brother Marc and Harold Sampson. But this was offset by two Portage scores, an unassisted one by Bernie Ruelle and one by Ricci on an assist by Jackie Ruelle.

The two teams matched scores in the final period, Walter Bechtold counting with the help of the two Olsons and Ted scoring again on a pass from Marc in one of the prettiest play combinations of the evening. Portage scored on a solo by Paul Vitton and on a Bernie-Jackie-Ruelle combination. The game was clean, with the way through. Sampson and Bechtold did much to put spark into the Hawks with their aggressive skating.

This Recalls That 4-0 Escanaba Tilt

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. —(P)—The freeze Penn State college is putting on basketball right now makes even the wintry weather seem good.

In cage circles here and elsewhere it has stirred up fresh questions over the question: Why does Penn State play that "slowdown" type of basketball?

The arguments were touched off again by last night's game between Penn State and Bucknell at Lewisburg, Pa., which the Nittany Lions won by a stingy score of 25 to 15.

For 16 minutes not a goal was scored. Then Bill Strella, Bucknell forward, dropped one through the hoop. An additional foul shot was all Bucknell could get for the rest of the half. The Lions, meanwhile, were content with two baskets and a foul.

The Penn State five took it easy in their offensive half of the court while Joe Piorkowski, Lion center, stood with the ball in the center of the court, waiting for an opening to shoot or pass. This was standard technique, for two and three minutes at a time.

Finally the half ended, State leading 5 to 3. Coach Elmer Gross presumably told his boys to "cut loose" in the second half, because they scored 20 points while holding Bucknell, ordinarily a fast-break team, to 8.

This was by no means the first time Penn State figured in low-scoring games, creating uproar among the fans.

Last year the Staters, in a memorable game, worked their freeze against Pitt's Panthers and walked off the court victors by a 15 to 11 score. There have been other games of this type as well, all exemplifying State's traditional, orthodox style of play.

Through the years the zone defense and possession type basketball has set the pattern for Penn State's teams. Even when the racehorse species of cage play became the vogue after World War II, the Lions refused to change their style.

What did the coaches of last night's opponents have to say?

Jack Guy of Bucknell did not mince words. He asserted: the game "was a disgrace to basketball. It was winning the game at any cost."

But Gross, evidently pleased with the outcome, said Penn State "might continue to use the same strategy for the remainder of the season."

Th crowd of 1,800, overwhelmingly Bucknell, reacted to the proceedings with derision, booing and hooting again and again.

Frick Studies Radio Problem

NEW YORK —(P)—President Ford Frick and National League club owners will meet here today to discuss radio policy that will offer as much help to the minor leagues as possible.

"Our meeting will have nothing to do with the World Series broadcast or even the contracts by individual clubs for their local outlets," Frick said.

"Primarily, we are going to try to find out what we are going to do about chain broadcasting."

Frick said recently it's "a heck of a problem. We've got to help minor league baseball. We'd be silly if we didn't."

"What broadcasts of big league games can do to help is to sell minor league baseball to fans. A fellow bringing in a big league game to minor league territory should make every effort to plug that particular minor league team. The minors, however, must cooperate by furnishing the necessary information on their particular clubs and players."

The effect of television on major league clubs also may be discussed.

Two More Seeking OSU Coaching Job

COLUMBUS, O. —(P)—Ohio State university today announced two more applications have been filed for the head coaching job vacated by resignation of Wesley Fessler.

The latest applicants are Edgar Jones, player-backfield coach of the professional Hamilton, Ontario Tiger Cats, and Michael Nixon, backfield coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Pro League.

Jones formerly started with the University of Pittsburgh and the Cleveland Browns.

Brown Stars Favored To Beat Stydahars

LOS ANGELES —(P)—The American conference is favored to whip the National conference in the pro-bowl all-star game Sunday, but the battle, like the odds, figures to be close.

Coach Paul Brown's handpicked athletes from the American are three and one-half point favorites to trim Coach Joe Stydahar's Nationals.

The game, pitting the best in the rival conferences of the National football league, is the first of at least three annual postseason struggles which will be sponsored by the Los Angeles Newspaper Publishers association in a deal with the NFL.

This one will not be televised but whether the fans will break down the gates to get into huge Memorial coliseum remains to be seen.

The contest offers innumerable attractions, not the least of which is the private coaching mentor who piloted the Cleveland Browns to the NFL championship last Dec. 24, and his victim that day, Rookie Coach Stydahar of the Los Angeles Rams.

Stydahar and his backfield coach, Hampton Pool, have at their disposal the cream of the National conference teams, in-

Hogan Is Rated Best Comeback

NEW YORK —(P)—Bantam Ben Hogan's phenomenal, movie-script rally from a near-fatal accident to regain his old golfing heights has rated today the greatest comeback in sports for 1950.

On Feb. 2, 1949 Hogan was critically injured in an automobile accident while returning home from a tournament in Phoenix, Ariz. For weeks his condition remained serious.

There was doubt that he would ever walk, much less play, again. But walking stiffly on legs held together by bailing wire, Hogan amazed the golf world by finishing in a tie with Sam Snead for first place, shooting a remarkable 280 in the Los Angeles open. He climaxed his spectacular comeback by winning the national open at Philadelphia in June.

Second place went to another whose career was almost cut short by tragedy—Eddie Waitkus, first baseman of the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Navy football team that rose up to shock Army, 14-2, in the final game of the season won third place, followed by Johnny Mize, the veteran first baseman of the New York Yankees.

Slips On Ice, Boxer Drops From Fight

DETROIT —(P)—The International Boxing club was on the lookout today for a replacement for Reuben Jones to meet Irish Bob Murphy in the headliner of a fight card here next Wednesday night.

Jones notified promoter Nick Londea that he sprained his ankle by slipping on ice at his Greenwood Lake, N. Y., training camp and would be unable to keep his engagement with Murphy.

Brown will rely on his ace, Otto Graham, with Jim Hardy of the Cardinals and Charlie Conerly of the Giants standing by.

Just how the two coaches will rotate such pass-masters remains an intriguing question. The same applies to the wealth of other offensive heroes—Doak Walker of Detroit, Glenn Davis of Los Angeles, each of whom was a three-time All-America in college football; Dick Hoerner of the Rams and his all-pro end teammate, Tommy Fears, and Zollic Toth of the Yanks; and opposing them, Cleveland's Marion Motley, Washington's Bill Dudley and Harry Gilmer, Joe Geri of Pittsburgh, Choo Choo Roberts of the Giants and Pat Hardy of the Cardinals, to list some of them.

MARC OLSON SCORES FOR HAWKS — Marc Olson (extreme right) lets loose with the puck for Escanaba's first score against Portage Lake. Jackie Ruelle of Portage attempts to prevent Olson from shooting and Tony Buckovich (12) and Goalie Larry Anderson (1) are alerted.

Ezzard Charles Confident Of Beating Oma

NEW YORK —(P)—Calm, confident Ezzard Charles remained a solid 1 to 6 favorite today to retain his heavyweight championship against the challenge of unorthodox Lee Oma at Madison Square Garden tomorrow night.

The sharp-punching Cincinnati champ also was listed as a 1 to 2 choice to stop the Buffalo fighter before the 15-rounds are over. There was very little betting here on either the outcome or a knockout. But interest in the fight has picked up and there is a good possibility the International Boxing club's predictions of a 12,000 crowd and a $65,000 gross will be fulfilled.

Sixth Title Defense

Charles' sixth title defense will be telecast and broadcast. The 29-year-old champion wound up his boxing preparations yesterday with a flashy four-round workout. He looked fast and fit when he completed his fourth and last round.

Asked if he planned to go for a knockout, Ezzard said "I'm going out to win. If I can knock him out, I'll do it. I'll see what happens in there."

Charles has made no special effort in training to cope with Oma's puzzling style. The Buffalo scrap-fighter with his hands down and walks away from opponents in a style somewhat similar to that of Jersey Joe Walcott, who was beaten by Charles.

Oma, who finished boxing Tuesday, just limbered up yesterday. "I'm in good shape," said the 34-year-old Oma. "I've never trained like this before. I'm ready."

Oma Is Serious
He wasn't kidding about the training. His limit before amounted to sparring a few rounds. Why work too hard when you're not getting paid, was the way he usually regarded training.

Now, at the tailend of a checkered career, he's getting a world title shot and he's making a real try. He indicated that he planned to discard some of his previous ring tricks.

"I've slowed up a bit and I'll have to do more fighting and less of the shuffling," said Oma. "I'm more flatfooted and I'll try to use more power."

Oma has never gone 15 rounds before but the distance doesn't faze him.

"My legs are good. We'll see what happens."

NCAA Sanity Code May Be Softened

DALLAS —(P)—Confidence arose among the liberals of the National Collegiate Athletic association today that an amendment softening the sanity code governing financial aid to athletes would be passed.

T. P. Heard, athletic director of Louisiana State, predicted that the NCAA constitution would be amended to place enforcement of the code in the hands of the individual schools and conferences.

Seven schools not now in compliance thus might escape going on trial.

The sanity code as it now stands provides for tuition and fees for athletes. Some of the liberals want to give financial benefits on the basis of need without the athlete having to work for what he gets.

The American Association of College Baseball coaches recommended to the NCAA that beginning today that an amendment liberalizing the substitution rule. They did say, however, that they wanted more plays in a game and asked that more uniformity in starting the clock be attained and that anything that could be done to cut down on the length of time outs and other time-killers would be appreciated.

The Canadiens jumped back into a third-place tie with the Boston Bruins last night when they put the chill on the New York Rangers, 3-0.

Richard distinguished himself again by scoring all three goals while Gerry McNeil was working hard for his fifth shutout of the season. It was the second victory in a row for Montreal, which surprised last Saturday by knocking off the league-leading Detroit Red Wings.

Richard's scoring feat shoved his season's total up to an impressive total of 24 goals. It increased his second-place figure for the all-time modern scoring race to 274—and it brought him closer to the all-time high of 323 scored by Nels Stewart during his lengthy ice career.

Larry Doby Given 'Handsome' Boost
CLEVELAND —(P)—Larry Doby, Cleveland's slugging centerfielder, has signed a 1951 contract that calls for a "handsome increase," the Indians announced today.

Doby will be drawing a salary this year close to $30,000, sources close to the baseball team say.

Last season Doby led the club with a batting average of .326, drove in 102 runs and swatted 25 home runs. He played in the all-star games in 1949 and 1950.

Eskymos, St. Joe In Home Battles

3 Hot Games In City League

Tonight is the big night on the local independent basketball front and the headline attraction of an interesting three-game program at the junior high is the Shamrock-Kessler's battle at 8:30. Groos Drug and Clairmont meet in the opener at 6:30 with Andys of Bark River facing Cloverland College at 7:30.

In the finale tonight the Shamrocks will be stronger than they have been at any time this season and they are favored to hand Kessler's their first loss of the year. Tom St. Germaine, last year's winner of the outstanding player award, will be in a Shamrock uniform for the first time since last March. Last year's champs also will have high-scoring Bob Dufour, Ed Gauthier, Bob Anderson, Tom Dufour, Ray Hirm, Frank Miketinac, John Zimmerman, Billy Rajala and Larry LaPlante.

Height Advantage
Manager Vial Smith of Kessler's will counter with Dan Lewis, Roy Johnson, George Anderson, Jim Kessler, George Shomin, Russ Faber, Ray Ehl, Paul DeBen, and Carl Fassbender. The current league-leaders will have a slight height advantage which may offset the experience and smooth ball-handling of the Shamrocks.

At 6:30, Groos Drug and Clairmonts will be fighting for the leadership of the National league. In the 7:30 contest, Andys will be trying to prove that they can take care of themselves in the faster company of the American league while Cloverland College will attempt to get back on the victory trail after their loss to Harnischfeger Monday night.

Escanaba basketball fans will have a busy weekend with two top-notch high school games scheduled.

The first will be Friday night at the junior high school when the Eskymos entertain their traditional rival, Menominee. The second will be Saturday night at William Bonifas gym with St. Joseph and Gladstone tangling in a game that has all the earmarks of a grudge fight.

The Eskymos, defeated five games in a row, won their first victory Tuesday night when they edged out a surprisingly aggressive Stephenson team, 49 to 48.

Sparked by that win, the boys are aiming at improving on their record against Menominee—an in and out team so far this year. The Maroons have lost to Lourdes of Marinette, Oconto, Manistique and Ishpeming while defeating Kingsford, Stephenson and Clintonville, Wis.

All Menominee victories have been on their home court. They soundly trounced Stephenson by 44 to 14.

Basketball fans of Escanaba and Gladstone have been awaiting the return St. Joseph-Gladstone game ever since the Trojans upset Coach Eldon Keil's boys, 59 to 40, on Gladstone's floor earlier in the season. In that game, Pete Kutech of St. Joseph dropped in 37 points to give the Trojans the bulge. Since then, Gladstone has defeated Manistique, a team which beat St. Joseph, as well as Munising and Escanaba and the Braves make no bones of the fact that they're out to get revenge tomorrow night.

MSC Learns Free Throw Is Important

EAST LANSING —(P)—The importance of the free throw in basketball was underlined by Michigan State's first Western conference basketball loss—to Wisconsin by a 53-32 score.

Wisconsin made 23 points on gift shots that game while the Spartans made 12. A free throw made by forward Dan Markham was the margin of victory for the Badgers. One missed by center Bob Carey denied MSC an overtime.

"Carey worked longer in that game than any other so far this season," Coach Pete Newell explained. "Toward the end of the game fatigue sets in so the player will miss more of the clutch shots than any others."

In practice, Newell has every man shoot about 40 free throws. He makes them shoot at the end of practice, when they are tired, to stimulate game conditions as much as possible.

"I try to have them relax before shooting," he explained. "They take a deep breath and then exhale—that way they'll be more relaxed."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to take this means of expressing our sincere appreciation of the wonderful acts of kindness shown us by neighbors and friends during the death of our beloved wife and mother. Especially do we thank those who sent flowers, those who donated to the memorial gift at the Salem Lutheran church, Rev. Wm. F. Lutz for his comforting words, those who offered the use of their cars, those who served as pallbearers, and all others who aided us in so many ways. The memory of these acts of kindness will always remain with us.

Signed:
REUBEN JEFFERSON AND FAMILY.

TYROL HAS COLD WAR
VIENNA—(P)—A "cold war" has broken out in the heart of the snowy Austrian sky country. Two provinces of western Austria—the Tyrol and Vorarlberg—have most of the mountains and most of the snow.

Last week, the Tyroleans accused the Vorarlberg provincial authorities of carrying out a "snow blockade." They said the Vorarlbergers were refusing to clear snow off a pass that separated the two provinces.

This, the Tyroleans said, was preventing winter tourists from reaching them. The Vorarlbergers replied: "You can clear it off yourselves if you want to."

News of THOSE IN UNIFORM

HANAU, Germany — Corporal George H. Johnson, son of An-

Chatham

Safety Club Meeting
CHATHAM—The Safety club of the Chatham school met Friday. Reports were given and a discussion regarding payment of part of doctors' bills on recent accidents held. Sweepers appointed are Wilfred Mannisto, Richard Malnar, Teddy Yokeum, Tommy Norman and Joey Hawley.

Fathers' Night Meeting
Fathers' Night will be observed at the Chatham PTA meeting Thursday evening, Jan. 18, at the high school, with the men of the unit in charge. Presiding as officers will be R. Wallace, Robert Hamel, George Levis, Walfrid Mickelson and Leslie Latvala.

Personals
Mrs. Waino Maki has been discharged from Brasier hospital, Munising, where she was a pneumonia patient. She will remain with her sister, Mrs. Frank Davies of Shingleton, for a few days.

Mrs. Arvid Puro is spending a few weeks visiting relatives and friends in Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Toivo Johnson and Gerald and Alden have returned from a visit with the Conrad Johnsons in Harvey.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Clapp of Marquette have returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Sjostrand.

Mrs. Hilda Trelford returned from Munising where she visited the Ward Bennetts.

Matt Maki has gone to Detroit where he will be employed. Mrs. Maki is remaining at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hakala.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Goin and daughter Jane Esther of Shingleton visited Mr. and Mrs. Toivo Kallio Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson and daughter Audrey visited with Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson of Kivik during the weekend.

Margie Posio, Waino Autilla, Marie Zeno, Gloria Dunquist, Betty Peterson, Oswald and Lillian Hautamaki, Tom Latvala and Mr. and Mrs. George Levis attended the youth rally at Bethany Lutheran church in Marquette Sunday.

Mrs. Vera Peterson, Munising, Alger school commissioner, visited the Chatham school Monday.

Entertains Aid
Mrs. George Levis entertained the Ladies' Aid of the Eben Lutheran church at her home Saturday.

Engagements Announced
Mr. and Mrs. Jalmer Juntunen of Eben have announced the engagement of their daughter, Eva Lorraine, to Jack Edward Trelford, son of Mrs. Hilda Trelford of Chatham. The date of the wedding has not been set.

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Jalmer Juntunen of Eben of the engagement of their daughter, Lenore, to Walfrid Eugene Waldo, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Waldo, also of Eben. The wedding date has not been set.

Births
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maki of Eben are the parents of their first son and third child born January 1 at 12:50 a. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Montanbo of Detroit announce the birth day of a seven pound, thirteen ounce daughter, Sandra Marie. Mrs. Montanbo is the former Mayme Puro.

drew G. Johnson, Ensign, played left guard on the championship touch football team of the 508th engineer depot company this fall.

Corporal Johnson is a warehouseman assigned to the company. Its team placed second in the playoffs just completed in the European Command.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich.—Pvt. Gordon W. Bryant, 105 North Third street, Manistique, Mich., arrived by air evacuation from California at Percy Jones Army Hospital, January 7.

He will be treated for wounds received while serving with the 10th engineers in Korea.

Percy Jones is now the Army's center for treatment of frostbite casualties from Korea, but general and orthopedic surgery cases and amputees are also to be treated at P.J.

Col. Martin E. Griffin, hospital commander, estimates the 1,600 bed capacity should be filled by February. The capacity was recently upped 100 by authority from the Surgeon General's office, Washington.

David H. Watson, seaman recruit, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Watson of Manistique, Mich., is undergoing recruit training at the world's largest Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois.

Legislator Revives Drive For Michigan Capital Punishment

LANSING — (P) — Spurred by the confessions of two Kalamazoo county farm youths to the rape and killing of pretty Carolyn Drown, Rep. Eugene C. Betz (R-Monroe) said today he would introduce a bill to return capital punishment to Michigan.

This will be Betz's third attempt in the last four years to return the death penalty to Michigan after a 104-year absence.

His bill would provide for electrocution of convicted first degree murderers at Southern Michigan prison.

"I am sure," Betz said, "the people are getting sick and tired of seeing such persons as these two farm boys getting life imprisonment for such a heinous crime."

"And worst of all, life imprisonment doesn't mean that any more. It's getting so that murderers are being let out after serving as little as 10 to 13 years."

FREAK BLOOM
STAFFORD, England — (P) — George Astles, a gardener here, produced a freak chrysanthemum. The bloom is divided down the center, one side white and the other red.

"Highgraders" Move Into Silver Mining

COBALT, Ont.—(P)—Highgraders have moved in on the booming Cobalt silver mine here. Highgrading is the mining industry's name for thievery.

When an American mining journal reported that ore holding more than 4,000 ounces of silver per ton had been struck at the Cobalt Lode Mine, according to one of the community's old-timers buyers flocked in and established contact with mine workers who steal the ore.
